

Car Drags Boy 14 Blocks To His Death

Frantic Brother
Runs, Screams
After Driver

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP) — Police today held a young fisherman as the driver of a hit-run car which dragged an 11-year-old bicyclist 14 blocks through town, past hundreds of horrified witnesses, to his death.

The death car lunged on at high speed despite outcries of bystanders, with the boy's bicycle dangling from the rear bumper and the boy bouncing behind, his foot hung in the twisted bicycle, police said.

Police Thursday arrested Allan Harold Beck, 18, at a wharf where his shrimp boat was tied up and held him on a technical charge of manslaughter after the death of Francis Joseph Biesel, Jr.

HEAD BUMPED

Witnesses said Beck drove from the scene through downtown Key West, dragging the twisted wreckage of the bicycle and the victim, whose head bumped continuously along the rough street.

Biesel's brother Christopher, 10, who fell unhurt from the same bicycle when it was struck, scrambled to his feet and ran frantically after the car yelling, "For God's sake stop, mister! For God's sake stop!"

Police said hundreds of horrified passersby along the mile-long death route either shouted at the driver or gestured mutely when they saw the human form bouncing along behind the car. Finally the car halted and was abandoned.

Bernard Waite, assistant chief of police, said the youngster probably was alive throughout most of the ride but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the navy hospital.

Baby 'Alive, Well' Reports Kidnapper

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A person believed to be the kidnapper of month-old Peter Weinberger telephoned the parents' home today, saying the baby was alive and well.

Morris Weinberger, the child's father, told the caller he was prepared to meet a ransom demand.

Weinberger said the call came at 9:40 a.m. and that he told the caller:

"Am ready to meet your demand, awaiting your call."

It was not made clear just why the response was worded in such fashion and Weinberger revealed little else about the conversation, or whether he would seek to make a private effort to get the baby back.

Police have said they could not legally pull out of the case but that the concern is the safety of the baby and they would do anything possible in this connection.

Weinberger's son was taken from a carriage at the back of their fashionable home here on Wednesday afternoon while the mother stepped into the house a moment.

A note was left, demanding $2,000 ransom.

Police baited a trap for the kidnapper Thursday with packages supposedly containing ransom money but mostly containing paper in bill size.

However, no one showed up to try to take either of two

BRITAIN WILL GIVE UP CEYLON SEA, AIR BASES

LONDON (AP) — Britain tonight announced she has agreed to the request of the Ceylon government to give up her naval base at Trincomalee and her air base at Katunayake.

The Ceylonese have agreed, however, to continue to provide "certain facilities" for British forces in the vital Far East area.

In return, Britain will help Ceylon develop and expand her armed forces.

PMs Pledge New Efforts For Peace

Comprehensive Disarmament
First Aim, Says Communique

LONDON (AP) — The prime ministers of the Commonwealth today pledged themselves to work for a "comprehensive disarmament agreement."

MARPOLE SPAN OUT AGAIN, GAGLARDI MAD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi today criticized tugboat operators for accidents happening "far too frequently" at Marpole bridge here.

"Tugboat operators should know a little more about operating their machinery than this."

"I'm particularly upset about it," said Mr. Gagliardi on learning that the Vancouver link with Sea Island was out again after being hit by scows Thursday night.

Estimates are that the bridge will be out of service for from three days to a week.

Socred Checks On Iron Ore Statement

OTTAWA (BUP) — Mines Minister George Prud'homme said today no request had been received by the federal government for a ban on exports of iron ore from British Columbia.

Prud'homme made the statement in the Commons in reply to a question by George Hahn (SC-New Westminster).

Hahn asked if Premier W. A. C. Bennett or any of his ministers had asked that the export of iron ore from British Columbia be prevented.

"No," said Prud'homme, "we have received no such correspondence."

NO CROSSWORD WINNER IN 11 WEEKS; PRIZE $350

Pawning is a painful process and the latter is what the results of last week's Crossword Contest proves to contestants. None had a completely correct answer, so this week's prize to subscribers is a fat $350.

One clue that stumped thousands was: "Ignore one and it may prove troublesome later on." Most entries gave the answer as "pain," but the implication is the trouble is not right now. A "paw" in chess might be troublesome later in the game but surely if you have "pain" it is giving you some trouble now.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on page 23 of today's Times.

Possible Arson Probed In Sawmill Flash Fire

BLAZE LIT CITY SKIES

Road. Fire marshal's office is investigating possible arson. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

Light-Dimmed Auto Seen Fleeing Area

A fire marshal's investigation for possible arson is underway today at the site of Atom Lumber Company mill, demolished in a flash fire Thursday night.

A blue sedan, with lights turned off, was seen leaving the area on Tyee Road just as the small sawmill burst into flame.

Observers said the mill gave off a thick dense smoke then appeared to explode into a tower of flame noted by observers as far away as Elk Lake.

An unidentified man, thought to be intoxicated, was taken in charge by officers at the scene later as he attempted to enter the burning building. He said he "wanted to help the firemen."

The spectacular fire which drew crowds from all parts of the district, was reported at 10:55 p.m. Within half an hour, a crew of 16 city firemen had brought the blaze under control. But by that time the frame building was a complete loss, so quick had been the action of the fire.

LOSS $30,000

Loss was estimated by owner Piara Singh Sangha at up to $30,000. He said the mill was only partially insured.

The alarm was turned in by a CNR yard foreman, Robert E. Kyle, who was walking north on Tyee when he noticed the smoke.

"I ran to the fire alarm box (on Bay Street) and turned in the alarm. The mill seemed to burst into fire all at once," he said.

He added, "There was a car going the other way (toward Johnson Street on Tyee). It was funny, it had no lights on. But it might have been somebody else heading to turn in the alarm."

ALL-NIGHT WATCH

City fire chief Frank Briers said two pumps and a service truck answered the alarm and stayed on the job for two hours. An all-night watch was maintained and two men were still probing for sparks at press time today. Earlier this morning flames broke out again in sawdust under the floor of the mill but the outbreak was quickly extinguished.

At the height of the blaze it appeared from city fringe areas that the whole of the downtown district was aflame. Sightseeing cars lined waterfront streets and police were forced to close Point Ellice Bridge to traffic.

CHIEF GETS JOLT

A near accident occurred at one point when a felled power line gave Fire Chief Briers a shock which penetrated his boots. He immediately ordered all firemen to halt operations until the line was snipped off.

The blaze startled dogs held in SPCA kennels which adjoin the mill and barking and howling added to the noises generated by the fire.

The mill owner said he intends to rebuild "... as soon as I get my bearings."

"We are still in business. Our office, planer and lumber yard, located near Johnson Street, were untouched."

"We had a small loss of lumber. The fire will mean a lay-off for about 10 men." About 18 workers are employed by the Atom Company total operation.

Lake Swim Bid

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Marathon swimmer Jim Woods, 40, of Ashville, N.C., today dived into Lake Ontario, becoming the first this year to attempt to conquer the lake.

He entered the water at 12:07 p.m., immediately stroking out at 38 to the minute.

KURT MEYER SELLS BEER TO CANUCKS

OTTAWA (CP) — German SS, Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, once sentenced to death for responsibility in the mass shooting of 18 Canadian prisoners of war, now sells beer to the Canadian army.

Army sources here disclose that Meyer, who spent 9½ years in jail as a war criminal, is a beer salesman in the province of Westphalia in West Germany where the 2nd Canadian Infantry brigade is stationed.

Milner Quits Transport Post; Criticizes CPR

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal Transport Controller Roy W. Milner today announced his resignation and at the same time fired a volley of criticism at the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Milner, 64, told the Commons agriculture committee he will no longer be transport controller after the end of the current navigation season. He said later he would resign as of the end of 1956 though he would continue as a member of the board of grain commissioners.

LET DOWN BADLY

He made his announcement while describing the boxcar situation in Canada. He said he had been "let down badly" by the CPR when the prairies were in urgent need of cars for the movement of grain last spring.

Mr. Milner maintained no one could say that Canada was short of boxcars but if more had been provided during the six-week period of March 15-April 30 more grain could have been moved.

"Sick and tired of excuses," Mr. Milner had appealed directly to CPR President N. R. Crump who got "rid of the pencil-pushers and theorists and took over himself. We got more cars."

He said he had worked with the railways for the last five years and, with the exception of the spring episode, he had always received co-operation from them.

Mr. Milner emphasized that the privately-owned CPR has 17,000 fewer boxcars than the CNR. The government-owned CNR had been co-operative. For a time it had flooded the west with cars.

Bullet-Scarred Judge

Returns to Bench

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) — A popular British judge who was shot twice by Cypriot extremists returned to the Bench Thursday and acquitted two youths accused of bomb-throwing.

Sixty-five-year-old Judge Bernard Shaw, who described himself as "a tough old bird," was cheered by a group of Cypriots as he returned to his post.

He was ambushed by EOKA underground fighters June 25 and shot two times in the neck.

WIRE BRIEFS

Aussies in Finals

WIMBLEDON (UP) — Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall of Australia reached the finals of the Wimbledon men's doubles tennis championship today by defeating Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., and Bob Howe, Australia, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

Stratotanker Burns

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP) — The Air Force announced that a KC-97 Stratotanker from Lake Charles, La., on temporary duty in Labrador, exploded today and burst into flames.

The six crew members were listed as missing.

An official said a spokesman from a sister plane said he saw the aircraft burst into flames and crashed 45 miles north of Goose Bay Air Force Base, Labrador.

Wininger Still Leads

MONTREAL (BUP) — Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex., slipped to an even-par 72 today after firing a course record 65 Thursday, but held a one-stroke lead over Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., with a 36-hole score of 137 in the $15,000 Canadian Open golf championship.

VACATIONS WORST TIME

Jealousy Kills 1,000 In France Every Year

PARIS (Reuters) — Jealousy kills 1,000 Frenchmen and women every year although it is a passion which in most cases can be cured by physical exercise combined with breathing pure oxygen, according to the French weekly newspaper France-Dimanche.

Left uncured, jealousy could cause physical ailments such as ulcers, and skin, heart and muscle diseases, it adds.

The newspaper says that one out of every 10 murders, or attempted murders was motivated by jealousy, while hundreds of other persons are killed off by jealousy in disguised forms like suicide.

It says that 60 per cent of all French men and 40 per cent of all French women suffered from "chronic jealousy."

France-Dimanche says investigations showed definite physical characteristics common to jealous people.

Jealous men had thick eyebrows meeting over the nose. While jealous women had small mouths and thin lips, or large mouths and deep-set eyes — depending on whether their jealousy was of the "envious" or the "possessive" type.

The newspaper also concluded: The "most jealous" time of the year is vacation time, 40 per cent of all divorce suits in France are filed on return from vacations.

PROSECUTED BY PUBLICAN, MINOR FINED

VANCOUVER — The first prosecution of a minor by a beer parlor operator brought a $15 fine here Thursday.

Barry Conkin, 20, pleaded guilty in a suburban police court to a charge of being illegally in a beer parlor on June 23.

The charge was laid by beer parlor manager Orland McMaster.

Thet teller Priestley is a kinda prickly companion.

Milner says he's gettin' off — CPR's on the wrong track.

Agriculture boss Kiernan says he thinks dairy farmers'll hev enough feed this year. Wonder what the cows think.

'Nice' Times Editor Dangerous Says Priestley in BBC Debate

LONDON (CP) — Two authors — Britain's J. B. Priestley and Canada's Bruce Hutchison — matched words over the BBC Thursday night about Americans. And if anybody came out on top, it was the Americans.

Hutchison recorded his comment in Vancouver on Priestley's latest book "Journey Down a Rain-bow" — a critical report by the British writer on "immensely-rich Texas cities, in terms of the most recent developments in our Western civilization."

Said Hutchison: "As I read it, he sees the American people crushed under a home-made juggernaut, squeezed into a dull conformity and moulded into identical shape by their own machines."

Back bounced Priestley with the remark that it was "quite plain to me" that Hutchison had never read the book — that the Canadian and his criticism were "desperately engaged in a shadow-boxing contest."

Hutchison, discussing the influence of the machine age on Americans, said:

"The leisure provided by the machine is too often squandered on cheap, worthless and dehumanizing amusements. This, I am satisfied, is a passing phase, a fit of indigestion from surfeit, the behavior of a small boy set loose in a candy store."

Priestley countered: "The difference between us is that he seems to imagine that everything will come right by itself, whereas I am convinced that the whole drift is in the wrong direction."

"In fact, I consider writers like Mr. Hutchison, nice optimistic men who don't want to criticize too much and like to talk about 'passing phases,' are themselves dangerous, because they lull people to sleep when they ought to be waking them up."

WOMAN BEARS TWINS ALL ALONE AT HOME

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Betty Jordan, 25, gave birth to twin daughters Thursday night while she was alone in her small cottage.

"When you have to do something, you do it," Mrs. Jordan remarked later to a policeman who responded to her telephone call for aid.

A reporter said Mrs. Jordan explained she asked for aid only because one of the babies seemed to have trouble breathing. A physician later said the infant was all right.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband is a serviceman in North Africa.

BOY, 5, SPARKS ROW

Peashooters Shrunk, Or Peas Overgrown?

LONDON (AP)—Peashooters have touched off a row between British peagrowers and peashooter makers.

The question: Are British peashooters getting too small to shoot peas, or are peas getting too large to be shot in peashooters?

To John Christian, five, this is an important matter.

The boy recently reported to his father, Maj. John W. Rayner, of the war office, that only about one dried pea in 20 would pass through his new shooter.

The major issued an indignant statement to the press, saying in part: "In my youth peas fitted peashooters perfectly. Have peas grown larger or peashooters smaller nowadays?"

"Whatever it is, it shows a shocking lack of industrial coordination. We are fighting for our export markets and it is a scandal if peashooters are offered for sale which are too small to shoot peas. If such a thing happened in the army it would cause a terrible fuss."

Army Promotion

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Col. Alfred J. Tedlie, 40, of Montreal will be promoted to the acting rank of colonel and become chief of staff at prairie command headquarters in Winnipeg Aug. 13, army headquarters said on Thursday. He succeeds Col. W. C. Dick, who recently was named to the national defence college, Kingston, Ont. Lt.-Col. Tedlie now is at the college.

Tito Working Toward Third Force Grouping?

By HERB ALTSCHULL
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today Yugoslavia's President Tito soon will launch an ambitious campaign to set up a potent third force between the East and West.

These sources said reports from Belgrade indicate Tito already has begun the preliminaries for such a grouping. He has scheduled conferences this month with Asian and Middle East leaders that are expected to centre on cold war problems.

According to Tito's own statements, a third force would work on two basic principles:

1. It would be "neutral" in the sense it would be part of no bloc and would take orders from no one, but it would arm itself to protect its independence.
2. It would practice peaceful "active co-existence" with both ends of the East-West pole and attempt to mediate the differences that started the cold war.

Seven U.S. Warships Visit Here Aug. 4-7

Led by the 13,700-ton heavy cruiser USS Bremerton, seven ships of the United States Pacific fleet will visit Esquimalt and Victoria Aug. 4 to 7.

In addition to the cruiser there will be four destroyers and two radar picket ships, which are converted destroyers.

The Bremerton will fly the flag of Rear Admiral H. L. Collins, commander of the USN's first cruiser division. Capt. F. E. Edward Sellers, commander of the first destroyer division, will be in the USS Bausell.

Other ships are: US Ships Richard B. Anderson, Angerholm, Rogers, Lowe and Wilhoite.

About 150 officers and 2,100 men will be embarked.

SHIPBUILDING COMEBACK
Japanese shipyards during 1955 received contracts for construction of 150 ships.

DOG'S BARK BRINGS FINE

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's suburban and fashionable Forest Hill Village, where birds are forbidden to sing loudly but church bells are sanctioned, was reassured of its tranquility Thursday when Mrs. M. Stark was fined $2 and costs for letting her dog bark.

A village by-law says: "No bell, horn, signal device, radio, phonograph, musical or sound-producing instrument, animal or bird shall unnecessarily disturb the peace, quiet, comfort and repose" of village citizens.

Commented Magistrate O. M. Martin: "It must be a good place to live."

Restrictions Urged On U.S. Coal Imports

(From Times News Services)

Members from Alberta and Nova Scotia coal mining areas say the government should restrict imports of United States coal.

The proposal was made Thursday by C. E. Johnston (SC, Bow River) and firmly supported by Clarie Gillis (CCF, Cape Breton South).

Both said that the coal industry, its production slipping steadily in recent years, needs more help.

Mr. Johnston said that in the 1954-55 fiscal year, imports of U.S. coal exceeded by 3,413,000 tons the Canadian production of 14,770,000 tons.

If U.S. imports could be reduced by 4,000,000 tons a year,

"I am sure our industry would be put back on its feet again."

Mr. Gillis, a former coal miner, said there would be no difficulty in putting an embargo against a certain amount of U.S. coal. He also suggested a zoning system to ensure markets for Canadian coal.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC, Macleod) said once-considerable coal mining industry in the Crownsnest Pass area of the west is fading and the towns and settlements that depended on it are becoming ghost towns.

Rehabilitation Study Urged

Mr. Hansell suggested that his departmental spending estimates. Prudham told the House the value of Canada's mining production may reach a record $2,000,000,000 this year, four years ahead of estimates.

Painting a bright picture for the mining, petroleum and uranium industries, Mr. Prudham said value of mining production reached $1,800,000,000 in 1955, an all-time high. Every estimate made in the last few years had been vastly exceeded and it was on that basis it was hoped to reach a $2,000,000,000 production figure this year.

Something had to be done because things weren't going to get any better. Natural gas pipelines and later atomic energy would do the coal industry out of still more markets.

Mines Minister Prudham made no reply to the proposal for limiting coal imports, presented as the House reviewed Civil Service Salaries Too Low. Affairs of the civil service commission also came under review Thursday during study of departmental estimates of State Secretary Pinard.

Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam) said a federal civil service job has become "the beggarly job indeed." No self-respecting person would take a government job at some of the salaries offered.

He said the civil service commission is seeking trained lawyers at the wages of British Columbia miners. It sought nursing assistants and ward clerks at salaries lower than the earnings of waitresses, counting their tips.

It was time government salaries were brought in line with those in private business and industry.

Trade Minister Howe laughed off a suggestion Thursday that the port of Churchill, Man., should increase its storage facilities to handle 50,000,000 bushels of wheat a year. The current figure is 15,000,000.

A. M. Nicholson (CCF, MacKenzie) made the suggestion at the Commons' agriculture committee.

He said "authorities" had told him that Churchill could handle the extra volume.

"Well the authorities are just nuts," Howe interjected.

Average Prairie wheat delivery quotas have been higher this year than a year ago, Howe said.

Effective today, quotas are being boosted to eight bushels a specified acre at 222 Prairie delivery points. More points now are working on a seven-bushel quota. A specified acre includes cultivated and summer-fallow land.

Mr. Howe told the Commons agricultural committee that in the current crop year up to June 27, a total of 443,200,000 bushels of Prairie wheat were delivered to elevators, up from 422,200,000 in the similar period last year. The crop year begins Aug. 1.

On arrival at Alert Bay it was learned that damage was negligible, but that there had been a transmission failure. The vessel is 30 feet in length.

Tanks Wreck Street. DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — Two 40-ton Sherman army tanks drove through downtown streets Wednesday and town engineer Walter Lahey says the town plans to dun the national defence department for pavement damage "far in excess of $10,000."

Mr. Lahey said the tanks, unloaded from flat cars, moved to a suburban army camp over asphalt surfaces made soft by high noontime temperatures.

Virgin Birth Disputed By Doctors

Skin Graft Test Failed

LONDON (Reuters) — Two leading doctors Thursday disputed a mother's claim that she conceived a baby girl without male participation.

Their objections appeared in the authoritative weekly medical journal, The Lancet, which last week published a statement by a prominent gynaecologist and obstetrician, Dr. Stanley Balfour-Lynn, that the woman's claim "must be considered seriously."

The controversy over so-called virgin births began some time ago when the mass-circulation London Sunday Pictorial invited mothers to write in who believed they had been giving birth to parthenogenic fatherless children.

The woman in question, known only as "Mrs. Alpha," was one of 19 who replied.

One of those to object to the woman's claim, Dr. Helen Spurway, said that "if a case of human parthenogenesis occurred, a graft from the mother would be expected to take, since the child would not be expected to carry an antigens foreign to the mother."

Dr. Spurway then pointed out that in the case described by Dr. Balfour-Lynn, supporting the claim, the graft did not take.

In a second letter to The Lancet, Dr. Jack Wilmut Nicholas, a pathologist, said: "Dr. Balfour-Lynn is of course trying to do something long recognized as impossible — namely to prove paternity by blood-grouping and allied tests for establishing the fact of parthenogenesis is equivalent to proving that the child's mother is also its father."

PM'S GRANDDAUGHTER — Flight Cadet Therese Samson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mathieu Samson of Quebec City and granddaughter of Prime Minister St. Laurent, is on her first summer of training at London, Ont., under the RCAF university reserve training plan.

Union, Steel Stand Pat On Demands

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Negotiators for the United Steelworkers and the basic steel industry today stood pat on their pre-walkout bargaining strategy, showing no apparent willingness to resume bids to end the paralyzing deadlock.

As the strike of 650,000 millworkers entered its sixth day, it seemed left to the federal mediation service to schedule joint negotiations. The labor-management representatives last met together Saturday, six hours before the walkout began.

Joseph F. Finnegan, mediation director, indicated he would not necessarily wait for an invitation to set up joint talks. After separate "exploratory" meetings with union and industry officials here Thursday,

TWINING APPRAISAL

Russ Jet Planes Outnumber U.S.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gen. Nathan Twining reported Thursday that Russia probably has more jet aircraft than the United States but "there is no question" that the U.S. has the better air force.

Fresh from a visit to Moscow, the air force chief of staff gave his appraisal to newspaper men after reporting on his trip to President Eisenhower.

Twining was guarded in his talk with reporters and his blood pressure seemed to rise a bit under their persistent questioning. But he made these contributions to the debate raging over comparative U.S. and Soviet air strength:

PARIS (Reuters) — Millionaire shipowner Aristotle Onassis is planning an oil tanker of 100,000 tons dead weight—about twice as big as the present world's largest—to be built in the United States together with two or three other large tanker vessels, a spokesman for his shipping concern said here today.

Kidnap Victim Freed
SINGAPORE (AP) — Police announced Thursday that Chinese multi-millionaire rubber magnate Ng Quee Gam, abducted last Thursday, was released by his kidnappers Wednesday night. His Malay chauffeur was also released. According to Ng's brother, the ransom of 50,000 Malaya dollars, scaled down from the original demand of 150,000, was paid. The Malayan dollar is worth 33 cents. Neither victim was hurt.

Prices Rise Again

ANOTHER SPIRAL OF INFLATION obviously is under way in North America. The cost-of-living index has risen sharply in Canada and the United States. Inflationary forces recognized by economists months ago have now revealed themselves to the public in the form of advancing prices. The period of price stability prevailing in Canada during the last several years ended in May when the index rose by 1.2 points—a drastic increase within a single month, the largest in five years.

These figures should end the current argument between those who say that the North American economy faces inflation and those who say the real danger is deflation. Beginning invisibly in the money system, inflation has reached into the purse of every housewife on the continent. The only question is how far this process will go and how courageous governments will be in meeting it.

The monetary policies of the United States must be decisive. Canada cannot escape the American price level for it transmits itself instantly to our economy through massive daily trade between the two countries. Our prices are automatically dragged upward by prices in the American market where we sell more than half our exports and buy most of our imports.

Since the beginning of the year the Federal Reserve Board has been attempting to curb the expansion of the American money supply in the form of bank credit. It has been bitterly attacked by the Treasury, which says that these measures are quite unnecessary and may produce a deflation. President Eisenhower, with notable courage, has stood behind the Federal Reserve Board which, by law, is supposed to be absolutely independent of government and politics.

The latest price figures completely vindicate the views of the Board. They also vindicate the policy of the Canadian Government and the Bank of Canada which, through budgetary surpluses, increased interest rates and other curbs on credit have been attempting to forestall inflation.

These measures have been widely attacked as too drastic but they have not proved drastic enough to prevent a sudden rise in prices.

Some modification of the credit curbs could be justified if and when prices soften, but not before then. Meanwhile still stronger curbs may be required.

No one can ever tell for sure in advance whether prices will move up or down because they are sometimes governed by incalculable human factors, chiefly the buying habits of the public. We do know statistically, however, what has happened to prices and money in the past.

Writing in Newsweek, Mr. Henry Hazlitt, the distinguished economist, presents a table showing the depreciation of 53 national currencies in the 10 years from 1946 to 1955. This is a chilling document.

It shows that the American dollar shrank by 17 per cent in its buying power during an inflationary postwar decade. The British pound lost 35 per cent, the French franc 66 per cent. Some currencies, like that of Korea, Chile, Paraguay and Bolivia became practically worthless.

The Canadian dollar fell in real value by 28 per cent. Though it has been for some time more valuable on the international exchanges than the American dollar, this fact has little to do with its internal purchasing power. Its value to the Canadian holder, as a measurement of what he may buy with it, has dropped by more than a quarter in 10 years and by something like a half since pre-war times. All fixed Canadian savings, such as bonds, bank accounts and life insurance, have thus suffered far more than American savings but not so much as those of Britain, France and many other countries.

These losses were mainly the price of two wars—the Second World War and the war in Korea. Both of them were paid for, in part, by an increase in the money supply greater than the increase in production and that extra money, entering the market to demand goods, bid up prices in a classic example of inflation. The same thing happened in all countries, to greater or less degree, and considering the cost of war it is surprising that our currency has retained even its present value.

If governments resorted deliberately to inflation in wartime, as they always do, Mr. Hazlitt sees a more dangerous process at work in many nations, where inflation has become not a desperate emergency measure but a fixed and apparently permanent policy. "The truth," he says, "is that this shocking swindle by governments of their own citizens was brought about in most cases by deliberate monetary or credit inflation under the pious pretence that inflation is a sort of calamity visited on a country by malevolent outside forces."

In the case of Canada outside forces from the United States must decisively affect our prices and the real value of our money, but Canadian policy must be a vital factor also. We cannot avoid the results of any American inflation. We can have an inflation of our own without the help of our neighbors if we pursue the inflationary policies now advocated by some Canadian politicians, among them Premier Bennett.

First Class and Second

APART FROM THE BRUTALITY used in suppressing them, the recent outbreaks of violence in Poland are significant in showing the Communist world split into two compartments—the first-class and second-class members.

Yugoslavia, under Marshal Tito, is first-class. Unable to beat him, the Russians joined him, or at least welcomed him back to the fold, on his own terms. The long arm of the Kremlin cannot reach into Belgrade. China also is first-class, being rather too large for coercion.

The satellites of eastern Europe are in quite a different situation. They live close to Russia's hand, they are poor and powerless. The Kremlin can write its own ticket there.

Moreover, these countries are ruled by Russian stooges most of whom were not at home during the war but were undergoing their apprenticeship in government at the Moscow school. They are therefore not heroes of the native peoples, as Tito is a hero in Yugoslavia and Mao in China. They are outsiders, and they are frightened. Their power resides solely in Moscow and in Moscow's army.

Men thus held in hostage and acting in terror are bound to use terror against their people at the first sign of trouble, since they possess no other weapon. So it has turned out in Poland.

But these harsh events, and the courage of the rebels, have created a neat problem for a Russian Government which pretends to govern by consent and is always boasting that its satellites are not really satellites at all but free nations.

That pretence breaks down at once whenever disorder occurs in the second-class Communist lands where Russia controls the government directly and can use its own methods of repression.

Not until they are granted free elections can the second-class countries be considered first-class or the Russian empire anything but a centralized dictatorship, whether there be one dictator or several. The Polish uprising unmasks at once the old visage of Stalin whom Messrs. Bulganin and Khrushchev have tried so hard to cover up and forget.

'Great Guys'

IN A DAY WHEN SO MANY PUBLIC figures go about un-making friends and influencing people for the worse, reports of visits to Britain by Mr. Harry Truman and golfer Ben Hogan offer a cheerful change.

Mr. Truman, back home and cleaning his long rifle for some more political hunting now the season's on, has impressed even the leftist Daily Mirror. After the ex-president's London visit, the Mirror called him "a great little guy with his own typical dignity."

Editorially it commented that, "Harry Truman stepped down from power politics as unspooled a man as when he stepped up. He is still unspooled. His hat still fits him. The British people have a lot of time for this statesman. Harry S. Truman is one of the reasons why some of the icicles on the Kremlin have thawed."

And as "the great little guy" from Independence, Mo., influenced the Daily Mirror, so too did Ben Hogan affect the British sporting world. "Ben Hogan," said Britain's golfer Harry Weetman, speaking for his countrymen, "is a great player and a great gentleman."

The tone is essentially pleasing. Anglo-American accord has been given a fillip by two personalities of simple and impressive merit.

Stop!—Wrong Guide Dog

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I HAVE here the annual report of a large chain of supermarkets. Bound into it is a Special Report on Ever-Increasing Efficiency, which is the golden key to success. There is even a huge picture of a golden key, with E.I.E. on it, to make things graphic. The golden key to bright public relations is a light touch with the heavy symbolism.

Well, I am all for ever-increasing efficiency myself... provided it creates less fuss, and provides happier people with better food, and so on. There is no use in having a supermarket getting more and more super if it has to compete by selling sub-foods that are more and more sub. I hasten to add that the kind of food we now consume is not the fault of this particular firm. It has to sell this kind of brightly-packaged sludge in order to stay in business. I merely mean that any talk of efficiency leaves me cold... in fact, it leaves me quick-frozen... when the stuff being sold is not the most efficient fuel for the poor old human frame, and equally displeasing to the palate and to the old body-chemistry.

I HAVE a pal who is a doctor with a good deal of curiosity and imagination, and he tells me that one of the really big gaps in modern medicine is the interesting subject of what chemical foods do to people. If I have mentioned this before, that's all right. I'll mention it again, too, as often as I can.

There is nothing cranky about wondering what the artificial colors and flavors are doing to you. It is merely (if you will forgive the word) efficient. I do not, for example, think it very efficient to consume stuff out of a tin labelled Pure Breakfast Cocoa without wondering why the smaller label says this pure product contains artificial flavoring. Maybe the label means Pure Breakfast and not Pure Cocoa. In any event, to accept such things in silence is Pure Nonsense, and to ask questions about them is not to be a crank. And the case of artificially-flavored pure cocoa is only a very small example.

EFFICIENCY
THIS annual report was mailed to the shareholders by first-class mail at a cost of almost 30 cents, which doesn't sound to a layman like good old E.I.E. But a businessman once explained to me that shareholders might feel insulted to get their reports through a cheaper class of mail, and I dare say it is one form of efficiency, to keep in mind the vanity of the sillier type of shareholder. No doubt it has something to do with the Greatest Good of the Greatest Number, a phrase that has always delighted me by its vague and magical ability to excuse practically everything.

In the report I ran across three printings of the same portrait of the Chairman of the Board. Again, if this makes anybody happy, there is probably some good reason for it. But there is one picture I object to. On the cover is a painting of a family doing its supershopping at a supermarket. Daddy and Mummy are both there... Daddy in a pink shirt to match Mummy's pink suit. Three children are with them, including an infant in arms. Is it really efficient to have them all go to market?

I can think of only one way in which it is thrifty for Daddy and Mummy to hike up and down those super-aisles in a two-man gang. When my Missus does the shopping I accuse her of bringing home luxuries rather than necessities... things like ice cream wafers. When I do the shopping she accuses me of bringing home luxuries... things like fancy cheeses. When we shop together we restrain each other... no words of reproach are spoken, mind you... we just have a tendency to put things back on the shelves.

CORMORANTS

THE emblem of the Joint Services Staff College in Britain is the cormorant. Because (says Brigadier Cuthbert Arnold-Edwards) the cormorant is a bird which can live equally well on the sea, under the sea, on land, and in the air. Perhaps so. It is certainly a most wonderful swimmer, better than really fast fish. But its plumage is unsuited to life at sea. You must all have seen cormorants standing on rocks or floating logs, with their wings spread out to dry. Tavernier in his bird book says "There with wings hanging flaccidly, and a general air of dejection, they drape themselves with all the grace of a wet rag." Let us hope a general air of dejection is not the mark of a joint-services type.

The book says something else. It says fishermen condemn the cormorant, jumping to conclusions based on superficial observation and common report. A scientific study proves that far from eating the baby salmon in a salmon river, the cormorant helps free the river of eels, sculpins, and other trash, and is beneficial rather than harmful. "This provides a good example of the caution necessary in condemning any species of birds."

WITH the cormorant as a reminder, warriors, cabinet ministers, and civil servants may be able to remember to use caution in condemning any species of armed servicemen. For example, it is said that if we had enough land forces to hold Europe without the use of atomic weapons, we might be able to avoid an atomic war. Therefore, large land forces might prevent the atomic bombing of British and American cities. To do away with them would make an atomic war certain if war came at all. Talk about the balance of Nature!

Asks Local Support

Big Ben Laughren has proven he has what it takes to swim the channel. I think he deserves the support of his home town and the Island, so he won't have to give up for lack of funds.

Ben's friends and fellow work mates are doing what they can, but a local man swimming the channel is worthy of much more support.

Why doesn't some one form a "Ben Laughren Club" to raise funds and give encouragement to a man's ambition.

I'm sending my contribution to Ben's wife, whom I understand is behind him one hundred per cent.

Answer to the Anxious

The letter captioned "Religion and the Anxious" in your issue of June 29 is certainly thought-provoking.

What is religion? Basically it is a form or system of worship.

The Creator implanted within man an urge to worship, which was to be expressed solely towards his Maker.

It is precisely the failure to do what his Creator demanded that has brought "anxiety of existence" to those religionists "the anxious—the self-centred—who are religious and full of fears" as so pertinently explained by the Apostle Paul at Romans 1:21-32.

The remedy is very obvious — undivided worship (religion) for God.

Clearly Informed?

We see the Sacred government still continuously using the slogans "Be Clearly Informed" and "Social Credit Keeps You Informed" in their advertising announcing the different ministers to speak over the radio.

The public is still waiting for the facts on the Sommers-Sturdy and Cassiar road fiasco. Why all the silence? Are the people really being informed? What have the rank and file of the party and the members of the government including the Sacred back-benchers to say?

The only conclusion to come to is that this self-righteous government must have something to hide and have persuaded the members of the party to do nothing about it.

Also why all the delay in the Sommers-Sturdy scandal suit brought on by Mr. Sommers apparently to stifle discussion?

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

Local History

So Victoria would take over the Naval Museum? Let us consider how Victoria cared for such relics as came her way in the past.

The ornamental cast iron fountain out Douglas Street, the iron horsehead (I stroked every one) hitching posts around the City Hall, the huge iron rings fastened to the solid rock behind the Old Post Office for mooring ships.

The current "Geographic" features similar rings set in the bank of Mark Twain's Hannibal, Missouri, on the Mis-issippi. They still have theirs.) A gleaming brass Meriwether fire engine brought around the Horn to Victoria. Scrap to Japan! Two huge cannon out-side the old drill hall. More scrap, less history.

And what happened to two earthen batteries built along the Dallas Road to repel Russian ships in "Crimean War time"? I often explored these batteries with their half circle floor marked where the guns were hauled around, and the magazine under ground.

Across Canada and the United States old forts are being rebuilt and even at Kingston, manned for historic interest. Why not here?

At Fort Vancouver and at Flavel Museum at the Columbia mouth, the Americans display more relics of British and Hudson's Bay Company days than we do here in Victoria.

Nanaimo has a bastion with the names of its French Canadian builders on it. Where is Victoria's bastion? There was room on Bastion Square to rebuild at least one corner of the old Fort, but no, Victoria chopped down the trees and spread more paving for a few writhed cars.

Victoria is an old Hudson's Bay Company Fort but where does a trace remain? At Fort Vancouver on the Columbia, we walked around the foundations of the old Fort, and sat on the stone lined bank of the fort well, and thought of Dr. McLoughlin and Dr. Tolmie, in all their glory.

And where is the Hudson's Bay Company well in Bastion Square?

A bastion should certainly be rebuilt somewhere in Victoria, as when the Indians hauled ten foot logs from Cordova Bay to Victoria, where they were set up in a double row with coarse, bullet-stopping gravel from Ross Bay, poured in between the rows of cedar posts. With an attached museum a collection of historical interest could be built up to rival the Esquimalt Naval Museum! I should be pleased to contribute, myself.

Canada Is a Nation

The name of this country is Canada. In the days of Queen Victoria Canada was a Dominion of Great Britain. Now Canada has attained full self-governing nationhood, a worthy co-equal of Great Britain or the United States of America.

We want no more of this Dominion stuff. It creates a bad impression abroad where the term is misunderstood.

No, Mr. Diefenbaker, let us say with pride, this is Canada, a democratic nation in the world commonwealth of nations.

Moving the Targets

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

THERE is general agreement among seasoned political correspondents that Governor Stevenson has recovered from the setback he suffered in Minnesota and, barring accident, is virtually certain to be nominated. The opposition, which came from two directions, has failed to raise an issue against him and is fading away.

Sen. Kefauver's case was not based on any thing more substantial than a claim that he was a better vote-getter, and that claim was refuted in the California primary.

The Harriman candidacy has fed on the hope that Mr. Truman would move actively against Stevenson. His candidacy has made no progress. Why? Because the Democratic leaders and politicians in the North and in the South are opposed to the Harriman strategy which is to gamble on splitting the party, to drive the Southerners out by taking extreme positions which would be supposed to pull in Negroes, labor and discontented farmers in the north.

This strategy is imitated from Truman's in 1948, and is meant to be a gamble at long odds for the Presidency against the heavy popularity of Eisenhower. But the Democrats in Congress and the Governors in the State Houses have no interest in gambling for the Presidency at the price of dividing and confusing the Democratic Party.

No Winning Issues

The Democrats, who are dissatisfied with Stevenson have usually said that as a "moderate" man he has raised no fighting and winning issues against Eisenhower. Behind these complaints there is the assumption, quite unexamined I venture to think, that fighting and winning issues could be raised by a bold stand on the farm problem, on labor legislation, on desegregation, on national defense, on foreign policy.

There must be something wrong about that assumption. For not only have the Congressional Democrats and Gov. Stevenson failed to raise such issues, Sen. Kefauver and Gov. Harriman have done no better. Sen. Kefauver has promised a little more and Gov. Harriman has denounced a little more. But what are the great issues against Eisenhower that they are going to raise?

The reason that there are no issues of this sort is that the President has made it his particular political business to deflate the issues. As soon as there has appeared to be a grievance which looked as if it means votes the President has made a concession which took the heat out of the discontent. His method, to change the metaphor, has been never to leave the Democrats a target at which they could keep on shooting. Does it appear that they have the aim on a political bull's eye? He has shifted the target, usually to the left, causing them to miss.

Is there discontent over farm income? He has vetoed the farm bill and then conceded so much of what it promised to the farmers that it is no longer obvious how much smaller is the Republican subsidy than would have been the Democratic. Is there feeling in the Northwest about the give-aways of natural resources? He replaces Mr. McKay with a Secretary of the Interior whom the conservationists like and trust.

Is there complaint about foreign policy? He lets most of the steam out of the criticism by recognizing that in a measure at least it is valid criticism. The critics are vindicated. But the opposition is frustrated, and finds itself lunging fiercely at something that is no longer there to be hit.

Governor Stevenson has shown wisdom and great political good sense in not trying to pretend there is any radical difference between the Eisenhower Republicans and the Democrats on these specific problems. For the paramount question before the voters this year is not this "issue" or that but continuity in the administration of the government. The country would like to re-elect Eisenhower and to have him continue. The question is can he continue, and if he cannot, who will replace him.

Balance of Power

It is to this question that the Democratic leaders in Congress and with them Gov. Stevenson have addressed themselves. They have set out to prove to the people that they can take over responsibility effectively. With Stevenson and with the Congress, as proved by its performance, the Democrats have a formidable alternative in Eisenhower. They are in the best possible position to appeal to the Eisenhower Democrats who, almost certainly, hold the balance of power.

This does not mean that Stevenson would be a carbon copy of Eisenhower. Though they are not far apart on immediate problems, such as the farm, the desegregation, defence, foreign policy, there is a difference between them about the future. If there is a case against Eisenhower, it is that he lives too much in the immediate present, deciding issues only when he has to and when they are brought to him by his staff, but is not alert to anticipate the future and to prepare for it. As he grows older, this case against him is likely to become stronger, and for many a voter this will be a decisive consideration.

MYSTIFIED PUPIL

I remember when I was a student myself, one particularly fearsome surgeon greeted me on my arrival in the wards with the remark, "You, sir—your name would be Argyll Robertson, would it not?" Well, I didn't know what he was talking about, until some months later when I opened a textbook on diseases of the eye, and found that Argyll Robertson described "A small irregular pupil which reacts sluggishly."

—Richard Gordon, author of the book "Doctor in the House" and "Doctor at Sea."

Peace, Not Quite Perfect Peace

YOU can sit quietly in a room reading. Everything is tranquil. You go on with your book and become vaguely uneasy. Something is wrong. You look around to puzzle out the cause of your indefinite and small anxiety.

You find the clock has stopped ticking. The silence is too complete.

It's a bit like that in our house now. The youngsters are all working, one of them away from home. Two return briefly for dinner and go out again.

The familiar noise—the din against which we have objected for years, the study periods during school term when the radio vies with the record-player and the piano—is gone.

We're getting the peace we wanted. It isn't as good as we expected. There's no clatter of adolescent shoes pounding upstairs and kicking both sides of the stair-well as they go. There's no avalanche of a body returning with a final jump from the last three steps. There's no heavy clunk of the refrigerator door closing after hourly raids. There's no contest between Presley and Haley.

There's no strident demand to know the location of a jacket which customarily would be thrown on the daybed and under no circumstances will be hanging in a clothes closet. The wrangles on any given subject are stilled.

FUNERAL. Anytime now we expect to hear a sepulchral, ministerial voice leading the hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace." It's funeral.

This, I guess, is a stage all parents have to get used to. It helps them to appreciate Cowper's lines on the comparative charms of living in the midst of alarms.

A man doesn't grow dew-eyed and talk about the fledglings leaving the nest, but it does set him thinking. He doesn't have to embark on an emotional debauch to recognize certain definite attractions in a healthy noisy family. After a couple of quiet evenings, household peacefulness loses some of its appeal. There's no contrast.

I suppose a mature parent takes time on such occasions to think of the part his home has played in the make-up of the kids who have gone out working.

He hopes his influence has helped the young people to cut the mustard. He's interested enough in their citizenship.

But in the closer, personal way, he wonders a little how he's going to channel the energies he once devoted to whipping them into line when the kids needed whipping into line. And I guess in the quiet of the evening, he wonders a bit too, about the effectiveness of his whipping-into-line technique.

PHASES.

In a mawkish sort of way he probably runs over the years—and they seem astonishingly short—since his children were infants. He'll remember their small triumphs, their small griefs and he'll recall the philosophy he built around the stages of development from childhood to adolescence.

It's fairly safe to say that a parent should enjoy every phase of a child's development, no matter how obnoxious it seems at the time. The theory is that each succeeding stage will probably be worse.

Then, eventually, there'll come a time when stages are no longer his personal responsibility. That, I guess, is less enjoyable than any of the others, with all their aggravations.

Maybe he'll realize that he's been passing through stages, too. The current mild depression of a relatively empty house is one of them. It does give him a chance for a little soul-searching, but happily, he won't take advantage of it.

Come another few weeks and the kids will be back again, hootin' and hollerin' in the vocal excesses of the teens. Then he'll have a chance to look back on the tranquillity of summer vacation job time, when the house knew a certain quiet. That, also, is a phase for him to enjoy, if he realizes it.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Dropped Colon

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many anxious persons keep asking what they do about "a dropped colon" that, after an X-ray examination they are now supposed to have. As I have said several times in this column, the so-called dropping of abdominal organs, such as the stomach, colon and kidneys, is a diagnosis that was popular some 40 years ago. I lost all interest in it when I found that practically all of my thin patients had a stomach and a colon and a right kidney that dropped down far below the place where the old anatomists thought it should be.

The diagnosis of ptosis, or dropping, came in with the X-rays. Why? Because then, for the first time in history, we doctors could see where the stomach and colon of a person is when he or she is standing up. The old anatomists had seen only bodies of persons who had died lying flat on their backs. When one lies on one's back, the stomach and colon float up into the so-called normal position shown in our old books on anatomy. With the X-ray we see that in persons standing up, the stomach is a long stocking-like bag, the lower border of which goes down normally into the pelvis. In such cases the middle of the colon has to be even lower.

I haven't diagnosed dropped colon or stomach for 40-odd years. During my 25 years at the Mayo Clinic, I never saw the diagnosis of ptosis of stomach or colon made. My friends, the kidney specialists at the Mayo Clinic, very rarely thought it worth while to stitch up the right kidney, and usually when they did do this the patient was no better. The symptoms were due to nervousness and not to the low-lying movable kidney.

I know some of my dear friends in the medical profession will differ with me. They still think that sometimes a low-lying stomach-achor colon can give symptoms. Perhaps they are right, but I doubt it.

HANDLING TRAFFIC OFFENDERS

I was just reading in This Week an article about Judge Rudolph C. Geissler of Connecticut. He is carrying out religiously Governor Ribicoff's order that anyone who exceeds the speed limit must automatically lose his driver's licence for 30 days. If he gets caught a second time, he loses the licence for 60 days.

SYNOPSIS. A weak disturbance off the west coast of Vancouver Island this morning will move across the south coast this afternoon and dissipate on the coast mountains. South coast weather should improve Saturday with more sunshine and higher temperatures resulting.

A general decrease in cloudiness is looked for in the interior too especially in the southern part. However, the north coast will still be under the influence of a system in the Gulf of Alaska and little improvement is expected there.

PGE... STEEL... LAURIER...

Iron Export Ban Asked By Premier

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Premier Bennett wants British Columbia to have its own steel industry and has taken a step in that direction by asking Ottawa to ban any further exports of iron ore from the province.

"It is wrong that a province of this power and potentiality should have to depend on steel from outside," the premier said, "and the present steel strike in the United States emphasizes our great need of a steel industry of our own."

"That is why I have asked the federal government to ban further exports of iron ore from this province."

The premier also suggested that Ottawa and the United States should join B.C. in paying for an extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Yukon and Alaska.

He said that B.C. wants to build a steel extension but cannot do it alone.

He mentioned certain unnamed Americans as being interested in the plan, adding that he had as yet made no official representations either to the Canadian or U.S. governments.

(Anonymous American interests have been reported interested in the PGE for many years. They have never been identified.)

The premier said the extension, if made according to plan, would be jointly owned by the three governments. The present line would remain under the ownership of B.C.

"If the federal and U.S. governments declined to come in with us of the far northern extension, the railway could be extended to the Yukon Territory if the territory would join B.C.," Mr. Bennett said.

"The extension would not be a paying proposition at first. That is why we need help from the U.S. and our own federal government."

Bennett in 'Statesmanlike' Mood

Mr. Bennett was in his "statesmanlike" mood and there was a touch of rhetoric in his repeated demands for "strong dynamic" policies matched with "bold, visionary, forward-looking leadership."

He found these qualities lacking in Ottawa—and said so two or three times in reference to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and the steel industry.

"Fortunately," he declared, "we buy as much of our steel as we can from Britain. Buy British—that's our policy, and it is paying off. All the steel rails for the PGE extension came from Britain. This government stands for the fullest possible trade with Britain."

"If we buy less steel from Britain it will only be because we have our own steel industry."

Mr. Bennett was asked why he objected to exporting iron ore when many other B.C. products are exported.

He smiled indulgently. "Logs are renewable. Iron ore is a wasting asset. We cannot afford to squander wasting assets. We have exported millions of tons of iron ore in recent years and it is time we called a halt."

Turning to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the premier said he would ask Ottawa to pay 50 per cent of the cost of both the northern and southern extensions although the federal government had been "uncooperative" in the past.

He said he hoped to hold many more meetings with Federal Resources Minister Lesage, who conferred with him Wednesday on development of the upper Columbia River.

FRIENDLINESS

"There is nothing but friendliness between us and Ottawa," he smiled. "We do the work and Ottawa looks on. They know we are bold and enterprising and they like it even if we worry them a bit."

"Since we have been in power we have been many times to Ottawa. Now Ottawa visits us. There should be more such visits."

Prisoners Fight Fires

TORONTO (CP)—Selected prisoners at the Rideau Industrial Farm at Burritt's Rapids will be used to fight forest fires in Ontario, Lands Minister Mapledoram said Thursday. The plan would be worked out in conjunction with the Ontario department of reform institutions. It is similar to a system in force in northern Ontario.

Observe New Plants While on Holidays

First I must add the finishing touches to Thursday's hints on caring for house plants while you're vacationing.

Prepare the tub containing the bricks or stones the day before leaving home, so that the amount of water may again be adjusted after the dry bricks have finished absorbing what they need.

On the stones or bricks place the pot plants, previously watered. The amount of water in the tub will keep the plants in good condition for about 10 days. The evaporation of moisture will prevent loss of moisture from the leaves, even though the soil in the pots may become fairly dry.

And while you are on that vacation, make a few notes of plants you see and like. If you visit other cities, spend a few hours in the parks. You are almost sure to see something new to you.

Make a note of the approximate size of the plant, and the location in which you see it.

growing. Park officials are most helpful with names, but in any case, note whether the plant is a tree, shrub or climber, or whether it appears to be an annual or perennial.

You'll be glad you did, when you return home and try to get the same thing for your own garden.

my side of the story

A continuing series
BY THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

The instant I entered the fort I sensed the vast change that had come over its atmosphere in the short space of a week. The faces of the servants were drawn.

David was immediately called to the telephone. There came over to me the realization that this was no longer the enchanted fort; it was the fort beleaguered.

All through the weekend the tempo of activity mounted around David. There were constant comings and goings between the fort and London of advisers, aides and couriers. The telephone was never quiet. With so much clearly visible, it was not possible for David any longer to conceal from me the true magnitude of the crisis. On Sunday afternoon after a lengthy conference with Walter Monckton and George Allen, David took me into the library and told me how things really stood.

It was a sombre recital. He had seen Sir Samuel Hoare and Duff Cooper; neither had held out any hope that the government would allow him to marry me. Though sympathetic to David personally, Hoare had told him that he had only two real choices: renunciation of me or abdication.

Duff Cooper confirmed Hoare's analysis of the government's position. The course of action that he advised was an immediate withdrawal of the marriage proposal from the cabinet's consideration; he urged David to proceed with the Coronation and at some more favorable juncture in the long future to reopen the question of marriage again.

David had also consulted Lord Beaverbrook who, I believe, was also in touch with Winston Churchill. Both had basically concurred with Duff Cooper.

Nothing Yet Final

"So you see, darling," David said in conclusion, "I'm trying to do everything within my power. Nothing yet is final. I still think something can be worked out. In any case, I haven't stopped trying."

I was crushed. I felt utterly sorry for him in the dilemma into which his love for me had brought him so early under. Keeper of the Privy Purse.

They added to the basic idea of his telling his story a strategic touch. It was that he withdrew from England while his people considered the issue, meanwhile delegating the royal power to a council of state.

With something concrete to do, David threw himself feverishly into the writing of the broadcast.

He decided not to request formal permission of the Cabinet until he had heard from Mr. Baldwin the final replies of the Dominions to the morganatic marriage proposal that had been submitted to them.

All this time my aunt and I were still at the Fort.

The Worst Happens

On Wednesday, December 2, David motored to London and received Mr. Baldwin at the palace.

David was back in time for a late dinner. One look at his face told me that the worst had happened.

Not wishing to alarm Aunt Bessie, for whom he had formed a deep affection, he made no mention during dinner of the events of the afternoon. Afterwards he suggested we take a walk in the grounds.

It was a foggy night. As we walked along the flagstone path behind the Fort, he told me what had gone on between him and the prime minister.

The answers from the Dominions were not yet all in, but Mr. Baldwin was certain that their verdict would be an emphatic rejection of the morganatic marriage.

Nor was his government prepared to introduce the necessary legislation for such a marriage in the British parliament. This door was now forever closed.

"So it now comes to this," said David. "Either I must give you up or abdicate. And I don't intend to give you up."

As I had said to him so many times before, I now repeated that abdication was unthinkable. His place was at the head of his people. He was scarcely listening. His mind was far away.

Now, with everything on the final brink of disaster, with the Throne tottering and David beyond my reaching, I realised that the time had come for me to take matters into my own hands to the extent I could.

McAdam Can Stay Long As He Wants

W. A. McAdam, agent-general for British Columbia in the United Kingdom, can stay there "as long as he is willing to serve us," Premier Bennett said Thursday.

"He is a credit to this province and we look forward to a visit from him next September," the premier said.

He expressed surprise on being told of a rumor that Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd might succeed Mr. McAdam.

"I have not heard of anyone mentioned as a successor," Mr. Bennett said. "You are telling me something."

The premier said Mr. McAdam would be here at the same time as Rt. Hon. A. R. W. Low, minister of state for the British Board of Trade, who will attend ceremonies marking completion of the B.C. Electric's submarine cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island on Sept. 25.

The entire length of cable was manufactured in Britain by British Cables Ltd., and the premier said:

NO CANADIAN BEER IN U.K. 'Low Society' Mickey Back From London—Thirsty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mickey O'Rourke, 81-year-old, Victoria Cross winner, returned here Wednesday from London with an armload of souvenirs and a thirst for Canadian beer.

"Let's go home," the Irishman said as he stepped off the plane with his sister, Mrs. Sadie King.

"I've met the Queen, I've met the Princess Royal and I've met Sir Anthony Eden. But not once did I get a glass of Canadian beer."

Mickey was 42 when he won his Victoria Cross as a stretcher-bearer in France in 1917—the oldest man ever to win the cross.

Mrs. King said Mickey was "pretty well behaved" during his stay in London.

"Except when he crossed with a waiter in the Strand Palace Hotel," Mrs. King said. "Mickey wanted bread and butter with his meal. The waiter told him those in 'high society' didn't ask for bread and butter."

Mickey, she said, informed the waiter he was among "low society" and got his bread and butter.

What a difference a year makes, or don't bet too heavily on the possibility of the B.C. Ladies' inter-provincial team retaining dominion honors in the annual matches at Winnipeg next month.

Last year B.C. finally ended Ontario's long reign by taking the provincial championship at Royal Colwood.

This year there isn't one member of last year's championship unit on the squad. Marg Todd has retired—well, retired to the point that she still found time to come out and play in the Flunting Cup matches against Vancouver and win handily against one of this year's cup squad.

Dot (Herbertson) DeGirolamo is semi-retired, "for a year," she says—and, oh yes, she too played in the inter-city matches against Vancouver, and breezed home handily, also against a rep player. Shirley Ross and Helen Buchanan, Vancouver's contribution to the '55 championship, didn't see fit, for various reasons, to attempt to qualify this year; and neither did Joyce Fairweather, Vancouver city champ.

And so there you have it—that's why the team of Colleen Smith, B.C. champ; Ruth Wilson, Mrs. W. H. Knox and Helen Cleet is not up to the snuff of the '55 quartet. While on the distaff side, has anyone noted that both Miss Fairweather and Miss Smith are former softball stars; and since retiring from that sport they have become fair - to - better - than-middlin' golfers? City gals should take note.

Handy on Ice Too

Dale Dalziel, the personable young chap from Uplands, is a youth with many talents. After competing in the B.C. Junior at Marine last week, Dale who "was there," as he commented ruefully, discarded his clubs for a broom and rubbers. And right now he's a handy second on Tony Gutoski's championship-bound rink in the summer, bonspiel at the Curling Club.

The PPGA tourney goes next week at Marine, but Victoria entrants couldn't care less, it seems.

Only entry known is that of Norm Boden, City Amateur champ. Others are holding their putts until the B.C. Closed at Capilano on July 21 and 22.

That's the big one for those seeking Willingdon Cup berths, and right now it's a toss-up for all four positions, B.C., by the way, is defending champion. Bill McColl being last year's contributor from the Island and defending closed titlist.

The city and Island tournament parade takes a bit of a respite this week-end. But there's action nevertheless. Uplands is the scene of the Feesey Cup round; Gorge Vale will host Port Angeles, Colwood will host Rainier of Seattle.

Last Chance Gone?

It's nearly always been a case of one bad round in four for Stan Leonard, the former Vancouver pro. And he did it again in the British Open Thursday with an 83. It must be now that Stan's dream of that one big major title is only a nightmare.

And most golfers must bleed for Leonard; he has been Canada's big name for so long that a world honor would have been justified.

Bunker Blast—Remember Kevin Hartley, the Australian who competed in the B.C. Amateur? ... His name cropped up in print last week because of a 73 and third place in a Bremerton tournament ... for a drive of minus six yards, speak to Alex McEachie about the 12th hole at Colwood ...

Solarium Corner

Dave Gray has been connected with the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association Solarium Derby so long now that he can't rightly remember just when he first started helping out with the fund drive for the Queen Alexandria Solarium.

An ex-president of the association a few years back, Dave figures he has been on the committee for 10 years, anyway.

This year's is one of the 33 committee members selling tickets for the July 22 derby, co-sponsored by the Times and the VSIAA. Tickets cost one dollar for members and non-members of the VSIAA and besides the fish you catch, there is a $4,000 list of prizes.

An ardent fisherman—he and Charlie Guiguet are great pals in bucktail time—Dave is also a director of the Victoria Shamrock Lacrosse Club, and his many duties keep him fairly busy.

But that doesn't keep him from derby activities; and if you can't catch him on Saturdays when he devotes his time to the derby, give him a call at 2-2538 or 7-1729. He'll either

PASS IT THROUGH... RESTING AWHILE... EYE ON THE BROOM

back of the house; centre, Frank Clark relaxes physically, but not mentally; right, Art Mawer nonchalantly delivers stone from the hack. (Times photos.)

MILWAUKEE JINXED?

Braves' Home Not So Homey

By The Associated Press

Their own County Stadium, of all places, is fast becoming a "jinx" park for Milwaukee Braves, who take over the National League lead on the road then fall flat at home.

Juvenile Softball

Glanford scored a 15-9 victory over Lansdowne Thursday night in a Juvenile Boys' Softball League game at Topaz Park. On Wednesday night, Victoria West trounced Cadboro Bay, 22-8, with Bob Proski and Allan Graham hitting home runs for the winners.

Fiori's Bat Booms In Gorge Victory

GORGE 6, ARROWS 5

Fiori Goegan smashed two towering home runs for Gorge Hotel Thursday night at Central Park but it took a dinky little single that was stretched into a run to finally give Gorge a 6-5 victory over Arrow Furniture in 10 innings.

Goegan cracked out a two-run homer in the first and belted a bases-empty homer in the top of the ninth to tie the score at 5-5.

With one out in the top of the 10th, Vern Evans stroked a single into short centrefield and ramblled all the way to the plate with the winning run when outfielder George Wright let the ball roll by him.

The victory kept Gorge solidly in first place in the Senior A Softball League standings, with a clear 6 1/2-game lead over Chinese Students.

Mark Cunningham survived a four-run inning by Arrows, in which Stan Stewart hit a two-run homer, and went the distance to get credit for the victory. Archie Stuggett was the loser in relief after taking over from Don Lyons in the seventh.

Lineup follows:

Gorge Hotel	204	600	201-1	6
Arrows	604	600	610-5	5
Cunningham and Cornett; Lyons, Stuggett (7) and Dickie.

BROCKVILLE CREW GAINS SEMIFINALS

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng. (AP) — The Brockville, Ont., four-man crew today beat a Lady Margaret Boat Club crew from Cambridge by three lengths to gain a berth in Saturday's semi-finals for the Wyfold Challenge Cup.

The Canadians, troubled by cross-wind currents, covered the one mile, 550-yard Royal Henley regatta course in seven minutes, 54 seconds.

The semi-final will be held Saturday morning with the final in the afternoon.

Three City Rinks Bid for 'Double'

Three Victoria rinks were in line for double honors today as the summer bonspiel moved into its second last day at Victoria Curling Club.

Unbeaten were the Bob McIntosh and Tony Gutoski units, while the Bob Green foursome was also alive in two of the four events.

McIntosh has reached the fourth of the "B" primary and the eighth of the "A" primary. Thursday McIntosh trimmed Gar Taylor, 10-3, in the "B" event and Doug Ross, 12-4, in the "A" competition. He has seven straight victories.

Gutoski squeaked by Ole Olson of Edmonton, 8-7, and Campbell Aird of Devon, Alberta, 10-9, to reach the fourth of both primaries. Gutoski is unbeaten in eight games.

The Green rink, skipped by Jim Tang, reached the fourth of the "A" primary with an 11-6, 7-6, victory over Vic Buchanan of Youbou, and the eighth of the "B" secondary.

Also with an 11-2 triumph, edging Frank Burden 11-9 when Burden missed a takeout on last rock.

Frank Petterson tumbled from the undefeated class with Gordon Bedford of Oliver turning the trick 10-6.

Curling was suspended Thursday night in favor of a smorgasbord and dance. Tonight's draws will be held at 5:30 and 8:00 with most semis and all finals billed Saturday.

Alberta Cup

Team Selected

EDMONTON (CP)—Two Calgary and two Edmonton golfers will represent Alberta in the Willingdon Cup matches at Edmonton, N.B., Aug. 13.

The Alberta team will be composed of R. B. "Mike" Pyke of the Calgary Country Club; Joe Ferguson of the Calgary Municipal Club; Doug Silverberg, formerly of Red Deer and now of Edmonton, and Rick Collier of the Edmonton Highlands Club.

World Mark

TORONTO (CP)—A double check of records Thursday showed that two Toronto paddlers broke the world and Olympic record in the 1,000-metre canoe pairs last Monday.

Tom Hodgson and Bill Stevenson of the Island Canoe Club won the event in the Dominion Day regatta here in four minutes 35 seconds. The world and Olympic mark is 4:38.3.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held its weekly race from Alberda, B.C., a 100-mile race, recently. In perfect weather the birds made very fast time. Bert Owens' "Patricia" won the Pitzer and Nex Cup.

The results were:

R. Owens, "Patricia"	8	33	50
C. Woolley, "Jack"	8	35	23
J. Woolley, "Giv Pilot"	8	28	21
J. Arnaud, "Smart Alec"	10	9	9

Thomson Takes Third Open Title

Aussie Ace Scores 286 For Victory

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Peter Thomson of Australia won the British Open golf championship today for the third year in succession with a final round of 74 for a total.

HOYLAKE, Eng. (UP)—Peter Thomson of Australia, seeking his third straight win, held his lead in the British Open golf championship when he shot a one-over-par 72 for an aggregate of 212.

It marked the first time that Thomson had gone over Holyake's 35-36-71 par. He had two earlier rounds of 70 each.

Frank Stranehan of Toledo, O., led the two Americans left in the field, shooting a third round 36-36-72 for a total of 220.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., who started out the tourney as the second choice to Thomson, carded 38-36-74 for an aggregate of 222. It was his third straight 74.

Gene Sarazen, who won this championship 24 years ago, also qualified for today's final 36 holes but withdrew to return home to attend the funeral of a friend.

VAN DONCK SECOND

Thomson, who held a one-stroke lead going into today's first of two rounds, widened the gap to three strokes as Flory Van Donck of Belgium shot a 33-70 for a total of 215.

Enrique Bertolino of Argentina one stroke behind on Thursday carded a third-round 38-38-76 for an aggregate of 217 for third place.

Robert De Vincenz of Mexico City, who was tied with Bertolino at 141, just one shot back of Thomson, at the end of the second round, soared to an eight over par 39-40-79 for a three round total of 220.

Henry Cotton, a three time winner of the title, has a total of 219. He shot a 39-32-71 in the third round this morning.

Canada's Al Balding had a 76 for a 54-hole total of 227. Stan Leonard did not qualify for the final 36 holes.

Gary Player of South Africa had a 73, Angel Miguel of Spain, 75. They are tied at 220.

BEDARD ADVANCES

QUEBEC (CP)—Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., rated the man to beat in the Eastern Canada tennis championship, lived up to his ranking by eliminating Don Platt of Toronto 7-5, 8-6, 6-4 in a quarter-final match Thursday.

SUNNY JIM FINDS ANSWER FOR NASHUA

NEW YORK (UP)—Nashua is back on the beam again and all because 81-year-old sunny Jim Fitzsimmons is a crackerjack psychologist as well as a crafty trainer.

Slightly confused by Nashua's poor form in recent weeks, Fitzsimmons decided to run the thoroughbred millionaire in blinkers for Wednesday's $25,000 Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park.

The change in equipment worked wonders. Running once again like "the horse of the year" of 1955, Nashua sped to a smashing victory in near-track record time.

It was the first time the husky son of Nasrullah donned blinkers, known as the "rogue's badge" around the race track, since early in his three-year-old campaign.

Our Willie's Awa' Nae Plays Tonicht

Victoria United players will take a slight bow in the direction of North Shore when they have ex-Victorian Joe Travis in goal with Malcolm McManus and Tom Cooper at fullbacks; Bob Allan, Alf Rutan and Peter Proctor at halfbacks; and Gordie Ion, Neil McEachie, Denny Rogers, Art Hughes and Bruce Ashdown on the productive wall.

Game time tonight is 8:30.

Haig-Brown's Work Termed Immortal

EDMONTON (CP)—Roderick Haig-Brown of Campbell River, B.C. Miss Kathleen Parlow of Toronto, and Prof. Eric Arthur of the University of Toronto have been named the winners of the 1956 University of Alberta national awards in letters, music, painting and related arts, the university announced today.

The awards, instituted in 1951 to recognize outstanding contributions to the development of these arts in Canada, are in the form of inscribed gold medals to be presented at ceremonies at the Banff School of Fine Arts later this month.

The university said Mr. Haig-Brown's literary work has "placed him among the few immortals in the field of writing about nature."

200 Yachts to Take Part In Nanaimo Cruiser Race

NANAIMO — Approximately 200 yachts will take part in the International cruiser race this year, which ends here July 14, Nanaimo Yacht Club commodore James Allan announced Thursday.

The predicted log race starts this year from Pulosob, Wash., about 12 miles from Bremerton. Starting club is the Meydenbauer Bay Yacht Club.

The course is 140 sea miles, and entrants will range in size from 20-foot outboard cruisers to 100-foot yachts.

TEACHER PROMOTED

McKay of Ladysmith Goes to Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—Donald H. McKay, B.A., well-known Ladysmith high school teacher, has been appointed principal of the Chemainus Elementary School.

A native of Cassidy district, Mr. McKay began his teaching career in South Cedar School. He then served five years as principal of North Oyster School before coming to the Ladysmith High School 14 years ago.

Ken MacCaskell and Sharon Clayton, students at Chemainus Junior High School, each won $20 bursaries for achievement during the school year.

Patsy Beggs and David Thomas won honor pins.

Winner of the new Phillips-Lloyd trophy for citizenship and academic proficiency was Roy Vater, a Grade 8 student. Ken MacCaskell and Sylvia Thomson won Victor Ludorum sports trophies and Cougar House won the Humboldt cup.

Many improvements to the local cemetery have been carried out during the past month by the Knights of Pythias, a small but active organization here.

A wire-and-pipe fence has been erected on a cement foundation at the front of the cemetery, complete with a modern steel archway entrance. All refuse cans have been given a new coat of paint and by removing unsightly stumps the Knights have provided additional parking space at the front of the cemetery. Overhanging trees have been trimmed to give the whole cemetery a neat appearance.

Funds to carry out the needed improvements were provided by the cemetery trust fund which is jointly administered by the Knights of Pythias and the Anglican Church. The fund is supported solely by the sale of plots and private donations.

B.C. Power Commission announced today that the new thermal power plant to be built here will be known as the "Georgia Generating Station." Excavation work for the new plant is under way.

The $13,000,000 plant will be built on Bare Point, across Chemainus harbor from the town.

$43,799 Mishap Damages Given Courtenay Man

Victim Paralyzed From Waist Down

COURTENAY — Damages totalling $43,799 have been awarded John Van Valkenburg, 24, former local outdoor enthusiast, now paralyzed from the waist down.

The award, made in Vancouver by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett, was against Edwin McQuillan, Courtenay log scaler, whose car went out of control and crashed near Royston, Feb. 6, 1955.

Van Valkenburg was thrown from the vehicle and suffered a fractured spine that resulted in complete paralysis of the lower trunk and legs. He had hoped to become a land surveyor.

Campney Answers Simonds' Charges

Minister Says Conscription Not Issue in Defence Plans

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Defence Minister Ralph O. Campney attaches "no great importance" to sweeping charges against his department made by Lieut.-Gen. Guy Simonds.

Campney said here Thursday he could not discuss specific charges made by the former army chief of staff, but he does not consider them "serious."

Conscription is "not a current issue" in Canadian defence plans, Campney said.

He said a factor overlooked by advocates of conscription is the strength of cadet forces in Canada.

"There are nearly 100,000 voluntary army, air force, and navy cadets," Mr. Campney said. "The cadet program is providing youths with excellent disciplinary and athletic training without any fuss or trouble." Campney also denied suggestions at a press conference that army strength may be seriously cut to allow increases in the air force and navy. "The inference was taken apparently from the White Paper, but it was certainly not intended," he said.

He predicted that if there is another war, "there is a great possibility nuclear weapons would not be used—that it would be fought with conventional arms."

He described the Canadian CF-100 as "a good all-weather fighter for today" and warned against criticisms which ignore the time element in converting a prototype fighter or bomber to an operational fleet.

Reorganization of the army is being actively studied to meet new conditions but no great clash or increase in strength of other services are planned.

"We have to make haste slowly in such a vital matter," Campney said. "All NATO countries are concerned with the changing problems of defence. There has never been such a gap between offensive and defensive developments as that created by the atom and hydrogen bombs."

B.C. Farmers, Fishermen Cash Income Up Over 1955

Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Chetwynd announced today that the cash income of B.C. farmers increased 11.3 per cent in the first three months of 1956 compared with the same period in 1955.

He said the increase of farm income in B.C. was mainly the result of higher prices for poultry products, which rose in value from $3,904,000 in 1955 to $5,187,000 in 1956—an increase of 32.8 per cent.

Returns to the dairy industry increased by $460,000 or 7 per cent in the first quarter, and fur farmers increased their income by 30 per cent. Fruit farmers gained fractionally but grain and livestock dropped.

The value of B.C.'s fish catch in May, 1956, was an estimated $1,660,000, or 15 per cent higher than the 1955 figure.

Higher prices for halibut—up 7 1/2 cents to 19 cents a pound—and higher prices and landings of spring salmon contributed to the enhanced value of the May returns.

He estimated B.C.'s labor force as of May 19 this year at 465,000 people.

DR. GUY BENNETT

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Carol Grover, age 11, of Toronto, Ont., for her question:

"Is it true you weigh more at the poles than at the equator?"

This is quite true. Everyone weighs slightly more at the poles than at the equator. So does a bag of coal or anything else. This is one of the tricks of gravity. We learn that everything in the world is held by the pull of earth's gravity. This pull, or attraction, of earth's gravity gives every object its weight. The attraction exerted on one pound of sugar equals a weight of one pound.

The laws of gravitation have been working since the universe began. But no one knew it until Isaac Newton did some detective work about 300 years ago. He discovered why an apple fell from a tree to the ground, why all things fall down and not up when dropped. What's more, he figured out how the great laws of gravitation operate on everything in the universe.

The force of gravitation is a built-in part of every object, large or small. It is there in your desk, the moon, the sun and in every speck of dust. But not in equal amounts. The more mass an object has, the greater its force of gravitation. The big earth pulls harder than the smaller moon. The moon cannot escape it and float off on its own. But the earth's stronger pull does not cancel out the moon's weaker pull. The moon pulls back and makes our tides.

The massive earth hugs us to its surface and grabs everything we drop. But every little object pulls back at the earth with its own weaker force. They also pull at each other. There is a pull of gravity between you and your desk. True, the attraction is so slight that the calculations would fill a page.

Those calculations depend on mass and distance. For the force of gravitation lessens with distance. The distance is measured from the exact centre of each object. Earth's centre of gravity is in the exact middle of the big, solid ball. The force is stronger, the closer you get to the centre of gravity. It is weaker the farther you get from this point. And weight is the measure of the force of earth's gravity on each object.

The top of Mount Everest is farther from the earth's centre of gravity than is your favorite beach. Up there, a man feels less of the attraction which gives him weight. Up there, an averaged-sized man will weigh about six ounces less than he would at sea level. The radius of the earth there is some five and a half miles longer. The radius of the earth, from the exact centre to the surface, is slightly longer at the equator than at the poles. This is because the earth is not a perfect sphere. It is slightly flattened at the poles and bulged at the equator. The poles are therefore a little closer, some 13 miles closer to the centre of gravity. So at the poles a person feels slightly more of the attraction that gives him weight than he does at the equator. A fair sized man weighs about 12 ounces more at the poles than he does at the equator.

Andy sends a Hammond Nature Atlas of America to Virginia Arnold, age 12, of Dallas, Texas, for her question:

How is soil formed on a coral island?

The solid mass of coral was a-building for millions of years. At last it breaks the surface of the warm ocean. Twice a day, the tide pounds and floods it—but only for a time. At last the mound of coral is big enough to stand above high tide. It is an island come to stay.

Soil is powdered rock mixed with chemicals from the decayed remains of plants and animals. Billions of sea plants and animals have lived and died in the pores and crevices of the coral. It is already rich with chemicals. The winds bring seeds, tiny spores and bacteria. They live and die, adding more chemicals to the coral. Waves, winds and rain chip and chop the surface coral to powder. Birds arrive to look over the new island.

The tide washes in floating sticks and logs. There may be insects and even small animals adrift on the flotsom. They come to stay. A coconut may float in. If so, it is sure to find rich soil in which to grow. In 10 to 15 years, the brand new island is clothed with plants and maybe populated with animals.

SHEEP POPULATION

The world's 1956 sheep population is estimated at 810,000,000 head, up two per cent from 1955.

3,000 Snuggle Into Rugs At Outdoor Symphony

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
The weather didn't quite come up to scratch Thursday night, but the sum total of everything else was as close to perfection as one is likely to find in a lifetime.

Butchart's Gardens, approaching the peak of their mid-summer beauty, was fragrant to the nostrils and fabulous to the sight; the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, fresh, confident and vital; Hans Gruber, relaxed and humorous, and Marguerite Lavergne, a soloist of superb accomplishment.

These were the components of the first of two summer symphony concerts presented through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, owners of the famed gardens. The concert was an unqualified success with the audience which, in spite of the chilly night, numbered close to 3,000. About 1,000 of these went earlier to picnic on the lawns.

STAYED TO END

Snuggled into rugs, with coat collars turned up, nevertheless everyone appeared happy and enthusiastic and few left before the concert was over.

Extensive sound equipment carried the music to all parts of the gardens and people in groups and couples enjoyed an aural feast while they drank in the beauty of the star pool, the Italian garden, the rose arbors and Japanese gardens.

A singer with an assured future, is the Montreal-born soprano, Marguerite Lavergne. One is not often privileged to hear a voice so extraordinarily beautiful. It has also notes of thrilling darkness and warmth, pure high soprano tones and a degree of coloratura matched only by the finest singers of the day.

Miss Lavergne sings effortlessly and controls what is potentially a powerful instrument with fine discipline and taste.

There were passages of the most exquisite delicacy in her sensitive performance of Mozart's Exultate Jubilate, particularly in the Alleluia, a fineness of tone texture, flexibility and shading that made it an outstanding achievement.

She sings operatic arias with a well-directed temperament and emotional sincerity that render such familiar items as "One Fine Day" (Puccini), a new and arresting experience.

From the opening anthem, "O Canada," played with a verve seldom matched by any orchestra, Hans Gruber and his musicians presented spirited and charming music in delightful style, as well as providing firm and sympathetic support for the soloist.

Favorites among their selections were the waltz from Tchaikowski's "Swan Lake," "Galette Parisienne" and "The Moldau."

Next Thursday's concert will feature James Whitcher, baritone, grand award winner among male singers on Singing Stars of Tomorrow.

DOUGLAS BADER ... no celebrity he.

'I'M NO BLOOMING STAR'

Bader Ducks Out On Film Premiere

LONDON (CP) — Air ace Douglas Bader admitted today he ducked the world premiere of a film about himself because that sort of a do just wasn't up his street.

"I'm not a blooming film star," Bader said reluctantly as he chipped a shot on the old course at St. Andrews, Scotland, where he is staying with an old prisoner-of-war pal, David Lubbock.

The film of Bader's life, "Reach for the Sky," had its premiere Thursday night in London, and Bader drove north to avoid the hoopla.

"I couldn't go along to a premiere, having my photograph taken with a lot of celebrities."

WIFE HAPPY

But he added that he was "flattered" a film should be made about him, and said his wife Thelma thinks Kenneth More did a terrific job in the leading role.

Canadians in the cast include Vancouver-born Lee Patterson, playing a Canadian pilot; Alexander Knox of London and Stratford, Ont., as the

Southpaw Cameraman Tops Hole-in-One

City photographer Helmuth Goertz, 519 Cook, winner in provincial left-handed golf competition, was high man in the Gyro Hole-in-One contest Thursday at Central Junior High grounds.

He won $15 for dropping his ball about nine inches from the pin. D. McKerns, 3058 Washington, won $10 for dropping ball within 19 inches, and Jack Polard, 3120 Humbler, won $5 for a shot 21 inches removed.

Prize is $50 for a hole-in-one at the Gyro carnival, underway from 7 p.m. today and 2 p.m.

Saturday. Proceeds go to the club's Cadboro Bay playground project.

Raffle prize Thursday, a grocery hamper, was won by A. Woods, 1719 Stanley. Main draw prize will be a 1956 model car.

'DO YOU TRUST YOUR WIFE? THEY ASK

Edgar Bergen Crew Here to Seek TV Contestants

By TONY DICKASON
Edgar Bergen's in trouble. His success on television has gone to his head, literally. Poor Bergie's difficulties arise from the bald fact he's bald. TV's klieg lights on the pate are unthinkable—too much reflection. So he wears a toupee. This poses another touching problem. Make-up mags the edges of the borrowed hair, so the boys with the cameras must exercise extreme caution.

It would never do to have a ventriloquist, whose lips move, sporting hair that's not in the groove.

All this heady information comes from the working crew of the weekly Los Angeles CBC program, "Do You Trust Your Wife?"

There are nine in the party staying here for the day at Sam Lane's—Olde England Inn.

The men all said today they trust THEIR wives.

Purpose of the short-haul visit is to drum up contestants for the program. Application forms will be left with Mr. Lane, and persons who want to make a public TV spectacle of themselves—many do—can start the brawl rolling by picking up an application, filling it out, and sending it to Mr. Ben Smith, supervising editor.

The program to date has received 90 letters from residents of this area, who want to prove in public they believe wife is dependable. Just ordinary people are not in demand for the show. If, however, you are chief bait boy on a barracuda barge, and your wife is an acrobat, Mr. Smith will gobble you up.

If successful, a couple may retire for life thanks to "Do You Trust Your Wife." There's a weekly payoff of $100 to the winning couple for one year; then they compete with other knowledgeable pairs. The whole thing builds up to the point where one can pay off several waiting laundymen and buy a first-class home mangle.

Mr. Smith, a kind man with a pretty wife, says the program is successful—rating is excellent—because of viewer self-identification. No man fails to get a little pleasure seeing another's helpmate put over the hurdles, and it works the same way for the ladies when they see a hubby outwitted.

One rather large U.S. banker typifies the public reaction to "Do You?"

He plays the question game with his wife, and wrote the studio to say he's found out more about her since than he ever realized existed.

The show is filmed, and the 20-party crew is presently on six weeks of summer holiday, though the program runs as usual.

Bergen is currently in Europe with some chap named Charlie MacCarthy.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

Things and stuff, strictly off the cuff:

The best apology I have heard in all my life is one which came to my ears when a glass got itself upset, somehow, over a dinner table.

Said the upsetter of the glass: "I'm terribly, terribly sorry."

But I am waiting for the terribly, terribly honest person who changes the old phrase from "I don't mean to interrupt, but . . ." to "I mean to interrupt, so here goes."

No doubt you have noticed the lineup of swimmers waiting to bathe across Juan de Fuca Strait.

But possibly you do not know exactly what they are waiting for.

Is it the tide? Is it the weather?

No.

It is a sponsor.

As the new saying goes, it isn't the challenge. It's the money.

I notice the members of the Saanich council are all growing beards, in honor of the Golden Anniversary of that progressive, bustling municipality.

This fact has cleared up a question which has long been in my mind.

I have often wondered why the Saanich council meetings last so long, and what is being accomplished.

The answer, as you can plainly see, is that the councillors are waiting for their beards to grow.

I must take exception to the opinion expressed by Maurice Tozer of Sooke, in a letter to the editor of this newspaper. Mr. Tozer indicated he didn't like the type of advertising being used by the department of agriculture to urge B.C. people to buy B.C. products.

Mr. Tozer said: "If it is necessary to advertise B.C. foods to B.C. people, let us have pictures of pigs, sheep and cows. Then we shall be sure food is being advertised and not the prime minister's profile."

The reason I take exception to Mr. Tozer's opinion is, I like the department of agriculture's advertisements with Mr. Bennett's picture in them.

After all, Mr. Bennett is much prettier than a pig, sheep, or even cow.

Besides which, who would wish to vote for a pig, sheep or even cow?

Province To Make Mica Dam Survey

Premier Says Water Rights Job Will Take Two Years to Finish

Premier Bennett said today the provincial government will make its own survey on the building of the Mica Creek dam through its water rights branch.

He expects the survey will take about two years and that a start will be made soon.

"Anyone can make the survey," he said, "but the only survey I am concerned with is the one we shall make ourselves through the water rights branch."

At a meeting between Premier Bennett and Federal Resources Minister Jean Lesage last Wednesday, it was agreed the dam at Mica Creek is essential to any major development on the Upper Columbia River. They agreed that engineering studies relating to the dam should proceed without awaiting the outcome of negotiations on international river rights.

Asked if the B.C. Power Commission had made any move towards building the dam, the premier replied:

"No one can make any move until they know what the potentialities are. Under our agreement with the federal government anyone can make a survey, including private interests. I am only concerned with our own survey."

Mr. Bennett emphasized the federal government has agreed to give B.C. all available data on the Columbia River.

TIGHTLY FOUGHT

U.S. Wins Feature Race In Yachting

A United States team narrowly defeated Canadian representatives in the feature race of the PCYA-PIYA combined regatta this morning.

Sailing six metre yachts, the U.S. team won by 1 1/4 points over the Canadian.

The Canadians led first time around the triangular course in Cadboro Bay but Juno went aground for two minutes at Cattle Point, and the delay made the difference in a tightly-fought race.

In the other feature race this morning for the inter-association trophy of the PIYA, the PIYA crew was first, the Yacht Racing Association of San Francisco Bay was second, and the Columbia River Yachting Association, third.

In the series race which ended Thursday, Sea Fever of Seattle Yacht Club won the A Class. Other series results, subject to correction after the race committee has sifted protests, follow:

A class, Katell, SYC; B class, Karen IV, Corinthian YC. Eight metre, Fulmar, Royal Vancouver YC; International 14, Easter Egg, CYC. Lightnings, Puget Sound, Merit Lake Sailing Club, Oakland, Calif. Comets, Nifty, Maple Bay YC. Snipes, Risk, Maple Bay YC. Penguins, Mouteta, SYC.

In the Sears Cup eliminations for the Junior North American sailing championship the first series race was won by D. Carr of Oakland.

Yacht club officials, from commodore Morris Green right down the list, are almost as tired from taking bows as from the actual work of running the regatta.

Visiting yachtsmen have nothing but praise for the arrangements. Said one from Los Angeles: "I thought we knew how to do things down our way, but you're showing us how."

SINGER WINS BOUQUETS

Bouquet of yellow roses was presented guest soprano Marguerite Lavergne, Montreal, by nine-year-old Robin Lee Ross, daughter of Butchart Gardens owner-manager Ian Ross, following Thursday evening's successful appearance at the gardens with Victoria Symphony. Crowd there was sizeable, enthusiastic. Next Thursday's guest will be outstanding baritone James Whitcher, C-I-L "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" classic performer. (George Simpson photo.)

Border Crossings Boosted Two Ways

The tourist bureau counts them coming in; but the U.S. Immigration counts them going out.

Figures released today by the U.S. officials show that although more and more Americans are paying us visits this year—more and more Canadians are crossing the line to the south.

Boat passengers proceeding from this port to Washington State ports in June totaled 29,609—up 10 per cent from a record 25,800 in June last year.

Non-American citizens leaving Victoria for U.S. ports in May totaled 3,620. This jumped to 6,388 in June as the holiday season began.

One year ago, the total for May was 3,077 and for June 6,025.

Officer-in-charge of U.S. Immigration here, L. B. Ruid, said his staff has been enlarged in the last year, which combined with some easing of entry regulations, had made it simpler for Canadian residents to cross the border.

New forms are in use which reduce questions to six entries where 22 were previously required.

It is no longer necessary for holidaying U.S.-bound passengers to call first at the immigration office at 630 Fort before embarking. But such practice is recommended as a time-saver.

Pendray Will Benefits Many

Bequests totalling $100,800 to various Victoria institutions were made in the will of the late Herbert J. Pendray of the British America Paint Company, which has been filed for probate.

Mr. Pendray died last January.

Largest of the public bequests is $50,000 to the Metropolitan United Church, payable at $5,000 annually.

The B.C. Protestant Orphanage will receive $10,000, the Salvation Army $10,000, the YMCA $5,000 and YWCA $2,500, the George Pringle Memorial Camp $2,500 and the Resthaven Seventh Day Adventist Church $2,000.

Personal bequests include $5,000 at $50 per month to Mr. Pendray's retired gardener, a similar amount to a family friend, $10,000 to a niece, $5,000 to a nephew, and $1,000 each to two domestic servants.

The residue of the estate is divided equally among the living children of Mr. Pendray's brother, J. Carl Pendray, and their spouses.

B.C. Must Import Skill and Talent, Says Williston

British Columbia is so short of engineers and teachers "we are ready to import them from wherever they are to be found," Ray Williston said today, speaking in his dual capacity as lands and forests minister and minister of education.

"In other words," Mr. Williston said, "we are becoming importers of skill and talent. We have been recruiting for engineers and teachers right across Canada and the supply is obviously insufficient to meet the needs of a rapidly expanding province."

"We will go anywhere to find them and that naturally includes the United States. Our need is great."

The minister admitted it would be necessary to recruit engineers from outside the province to meet the requirements of the government's water rights program.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—While taking a drive recently in Central Saanich on a road running at right angles to Hunt Road in a westerly direction towards Patricia Bay Highway, we came across a deserted stone house of unique design. It suggested mystery, history and an interesting past. Can you tell us anything about it? —H.S.H.

A.—This column is informed that structure was built possibly 40 years ago by a stone mason of marked ability, who resided in it for years. It stood on some 30 acres used for farming purposes. Ten or 12 years ago fire destroyed all but the stone work. The owner thereupon abandoned it as a residence and afterward it was utilized for the storing of feedstuffs. The Times is unable to give the name of the builder. Motorists coming from Cordova Bay along Hunt Road see it plainly on the Dooley Road hill.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

IT'S PLAYTIME IN OAK BAY PARKS

Heading into a fun-filled playground season at Firemen's Park—one of five Oak Bay parks to open today for a month's supervision of games and handicrafts—are, wheeling, left to right, Heather Kern, 10; Jill McNaught, 12; Kenny Kern, nine; Joanne Hemmingen, nine; Karen Middleton, nine, and their "barrows"; Diane McNaught, 10; Barry Shafer, seven; Scotty Simpson, four; Patricia Izard, nine, and Kay Johnson, eight. City park activities are underway and Saanich starts this weekend.

3 City Motorists Fined; One Must Give Up Licence

Thomas W. Sallaway, 3041 Millgrove street, was fined $35 and had his driver's licence suspended when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of careless driving.

Police said Sallaway was driving south on Douglas when he turned left onto Pandora and collided with another car in the intersection.

Magistrate Henry Hall fined Henry Cecil Gilliland $35 but allowed him to keep his licence after he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Police said there was no stop sign at Burdette and Vancouver streets where Gilliland collided with another car. Total damage to the two cars was $400.

Bahadar Paul Manhas, 2575 Cook street, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to driving without eyeglasses as required by his licence.

Soldier Says Guilty To 4 Cheque Charges

Robert F. Millette, 18-year-old Gordon Head soldier, pleaded guilty in city police court today to four charges of fraud involving worthless cheques.

He was remanded to Wednesday for a probation report and sentencing.

Millette was accused of a cheque-cashing spree at Hudson's Bay Co. starting June 9.

On four separate occasions, court was told, Millette received $10 cash at the store for worthless cheques until he was arrested June 30 on his fifth try.

There's No Summer Treat
Like Blueberry Pancakes

New glamour is provided our old friend, the pancake, when fresh blueberry season rolls around once again.

Here is a summertime delicacy both family and guests will love. You'll make it again and again — each time with the same delicious results.

Blueberry Pancakes—Sift together 1 cup flour and 5 tablespoons confectioner's sugar. Stir in 1 cup milk, stirring until perfectly smooth. In a deep bowl beat 3 eggs until light and foamy. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt and fold through eggs. Carefully fold the eggs through flour mixture. Don't beat. Add a little grated orange rind and 1 teaspoon lemons juice or orange juice.

Fry on hot lightly buttered griddle, pouring only about 2 tablespoons batter onto griddle. Cakes should be paper thin and spread all over surface of griddle. Fry gently until crisp and just soft enough to roll.

Mash 1 cup blueberries and add sugar to taste, then add whole berries. Brush pancakes with melted butter and fill with blueberries. Roll, fasten with picks. Dust with confectioner's sugar and serve hot.

Smother Jealous Streak
For a Happier Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a person is aware of some personality weakness and what it can do to her life, the first step in correcting it has been taken.

(Q)—"I am of a jealous nature and always have been. My mother is that way too and I have seen how it has ruined her marriage. She and Dad barely speak to one another because my mother is always accusing him of being unfaithful to her. I have been going with a fellow for the past two years and have fallen deeply in love with him. But I am just as jealous of him as my mother is of my father. Do you think I will get over being jealous after I am married, or will I be like my mother? My boy friend gets very angry when I show this jealous streak and, unless I can control it, I am afraid it will ruin my marriage just as it has ruined my parents' marriage. Have I inherited this from my mother and, if so, can it be corrected?"—W.P.

(A)—Jealousy is not an inherited trait. If it were, you couldn't correct it. But, because it is acquired, it can be corrected. You have already taken the first step in this direction by recognizing the seriousness of it and wanting to correct it.

The later stages of correction, however, are far more difficult than the first and will need more time and effort on your part. Don't consider marrying this young man until you have proved to yourself and to him you have overcome your jealousy.

Jealousy springs from feelings of insecurity. The reason you are jealous of this young man, and that is true of your mother's attitude toward your father also, is that you are unsure of his love for you and of your ability to hold his love.

Now it is up to you to convince yourself that he loves you. If he has gone with you for two years and has intimated that he wants to marry you, this should prove the first point to you. As for your ability to hold his love, this you can do only when you can behave so he does not become angry when you suggest he cares more for someone else than for you.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Joan Hansen and Mr. John Shields, whose marriage takes place this evening, were guests of honor when Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Shields entertained the bridal party and guests at a buffet supper following the wedding rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. V. Tremblay, Beach drive, entertained last evening to honor their daughter, bride-elect Miss Betty Tremblay, and her fiancé, Mr. Duncan Vincent Reynolds. Guests included Miss Bernice Loblick and Mrs. C. B. Kidd of Edmonton; Mrs. F. D. Reynolds, mother of the groom; Miss Gladys Tremblay, sister of the bride-elect and Mr. and Mrs. William Buchan.

Mrs. Bud Hitchcock was hostess recently at her home, 1334 Pandora avenue, with a surprise miscellaneous shower to honor bride-elect, Miss Betty Heinesen, whose marriage to Mr. Ron Martin takes place July 14. Upon her arrival, Miss Heinesen was presented with a corsage of pink sweet peas and carnations, while her mother, Mrs. P. Heinesen, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. F. Martin, received corsages of mauve sweet peas. Guests were Mrs. A. G. Day, Mrs. M. Cole, Mrs. W. Hitchcock, Mrs. E. Cole, Mrs. T. Tucker, Mrs. B. Lawless, Misses Pat Martin, Elaine Martin, Delors Falls, Alice Nuttal, Jean Provan, Ann Sprinkling, Pat Heinesen and Pat Cole.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Reports Read—Committee reports of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were read Tuesday at a meeting conducted by president, Mrs. M. Carver. Past president, Mrs. A. Smith reported on the annual provincial convention in New Westminster. It was announced that Class "A" trophy was won by the Auxiliary Ritualistic team and the annual Field Team Trophy was presented to the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 12 drill team. Mrs. Smith will be the representative at the grand auxiliary convention in Milwaukee in August. A new member, Mrs. B. Duffield, was initiated. A gift was presented to Mrs. L. Hansen in honor of her recent marriage.

Raise Salaries—Following a study of staff salaries of the Aged Women's Home at a recent meeting of the board of directors, it was decided that an upward revision will take effect immediately. It was announced that membership of the home now stands at 97.

WHY

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Constipation is a stubborn condition to break. However, this can be done if you will be patient and will adhere to a routine for some time.

As you probably know, it is important that you get enough roughage in your diet. Fruits and vegetables are helpful. A diet of highly refined foods is one reason for this condition. Acidophilus milk often is beneficial. This increases the number of friendly bacteria in the intestinal tract. If, for some reason such as colitis, you cannot eat foods which give you sufficient bulk there are products which can be used instead. Your doctor should suggest one for you.

Few people realize what an important part exercise plays in overcoming this condition. Try this as part of your routine. Get up a little earlier in the morning. Drink a glass of ice cold water. Wait for a few minutes and then do some abdominal exercises. This is a good one. Sit on the floor and lean back on your elbows, legs resting on the floor in front of you. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. Stretch the left leg up toward the ceiling. Lower left leg to the floor (with a straight knee). Continue, alternating left and right.

Another: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands. Pull back gently toward the abdomen. Return arms and legs to the floor.

Such exercises increase tone and massage the intestines. This, plus the ice water, help in starting the peristaltic waves in the intestinal tract.

If you would like to have my leaflet which contains information for overcoming constipation, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 23 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BPW Congress At Montreal

MONTREAL (BUP) — More than 900 career women from 21 countries gathered here today for the seventh international congress of the Federation of Business and Professional Women and the first to be held in Canada.

The congress opens at the Mount Royal Hotel on Saturday with a United Nations seminar on the status of women. Federal Health Minister Paul Martin is to speak at the congress banquet July 11 and the congress ends July 12.

Organizers have drawn up a tight-packed program for each day, including Sunday. Meetings begin at 8 a.m. and often continue into the evening.

On July 10, delegates will visit Ottawa by train and receive a welcome from another career woman, Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

Canadians attending the sessions include Senator Murie McQueen Ferguson of Fredericton, N.B., vice-president of the Canadian federation; the national president, Mrs. Hazel Laycock of Winnipeg, and the first vice-president, Mrs. W. F. Baylay of Toronto, a former CWAC major.

Delegates include broadcasters, statisticians, librarians, doctors, journalists and lawyers from Europe, the United States and Commonwealth countries.

The International Federation of Business and Professional Women was set up 25 years ago with Canada as a charter member.

To Open Garden Fete

Mrs. R. Little, wife of Archdeacon Little, will officially open the garden fete of Langford Women's Guild at "Marshwood," home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Station Road, Langford, Wednesday.

In the event of rain the party will be held in the parish hall of St. Matthew's Church, Goldstream Avenue, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

Mrs. A. J. Ashdown and Mrs. W. Sims are in charge of tea arrangements and home cooking stall is under direction of Mrs. G. White and Mrs. H. Addison. Mrs. O. S. Moore is in charge of needlework, assisted by Mrs. G. McGregor and Mrs. H. McKenzie. Mrs. E. Jeffery will convene the miscellaneous stall. For children there will be a fishpond, in charge of Mrs. R. Fraser, and darts, supervised by Mr. J. S. Goulding. Mrs. R. Guyton and Mrs. S. Horner will manage other games.

At a recent guild meeting importance of installing sanitary facilities in the church hall resulted in the donation of $100, voted to the church committee for this purpose.

Proceeds from the garden fete will go towards guild funds. The major work during the past year has been renovating the church hall.

AT HOME ON WEST COAST

Mr. and Mrs. Larry H. McCance, with their children, Linda and Ward, have returned to the west coast this week after living in Toronto for nine years. The McCance family, who have made their home at 2162 Lafayette street, are former residents of Vancouver. Mr. McCance is executive secretary of the B.C. Centennial Celebrations Committee.

In Honor of the Bride

Bride-elect, Miss Susan Joan Harrison, and her fiancé, Mr. John A. Betts, Jr., were guests of honor when Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Taylor Spittal, Old Esquimalt road, entertained at the cocktail hour. Invited guests were Mrs. M. Stewart Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Betts, Sr., FO and Mrs. James Isaac, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon F. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Guest, Mrs. L. MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Thompson, Miss M. Ostwin, Miss Hilary Wells, Mr. Art Dawe and Mr. Robert Duggan.

A shower honoring Miss Harrison was given recently by Mrs. Gerald Guest and Mrs. John L. Thompson at the home of Mrs. J. J. Tanner. Gifts were arranged in a large basket. A corsage of pink rosebuds was presented to the honor guest, and her mother, Mrs. M. Stewart Harrison, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. John A. Betts, Sr., received corsages of blue delphinium. Invited guests were Mrs. Gerald Guest, Mrs. A. M. Taylor Spittal, Mrs. John Carpenter, Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. W. Gage-Cole, Mrs. A. McKiernon, Mrs. P. Mar and Misses Mary Cameron and Marilyn De Wolf.

Miss Joan Smithson was guest of honor when Miss Bevy Tocher entertained at her home, 2024 Marion street. A corsage of pink rosebuds was presented to the bride-elect and her sister, Miss Carol Smithson, who will be her maid of honor, received a corsage of yellow roses. The honor guest's mother, Mrs. J. Smithson, received a gardenia corsage and another gardenia corsage was sent to mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. C. McNeill, who was unable to be present. Guests were Mrs. A. Tocher and Misses Maureen Squires, Elizabeth Forbes, Janet Wallace, Valerie Rosenthal, Pat Hurly, Deanna Moffat, Nikki Chaston, Sally Gardom, Maureen Lamb, Bev Feiner, Sandra Parkinson and Diane Watkins.

Canada's First Lady in States Runs Embassy Much Like Own Home

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada's first lady and official hostess in this world capital is an attractive brunette who believes an embassy should be run as a home as well as an official residence.

Mrs. Arnold Heeneys, former Montrealer and wife of the Canadian ambassador to the United States, puts that theory into practice by maintaining a home-like atmosphere in the Canadian embassy, the big official residence she and Heeneys occupy on a hillside in Washington's fashionable Rock Creek Park area.

Scattered about the 17-room mansion, maintained and furnished by the Canadian government as an official home for Canada's envoys in Washington, are personal pictures, knick-knacks and pieces of furniture from their home in Ottawa, where Heeneys for many years was clerk of the Privy Council and secretary to the cabinet.

LIFE INTERESTING

The Heeneys came to Washington three years ago and Mrs. Heeneys says she finds life here "interesting and stimulating." As an embassy hostess, she meets leading personalities from throughout the free world — and, occasionally, some from behind the Iron Curtain as well.

She sums up her philosophy about the tasks of an ambassador's wife in these words:

"I feel that my first duty is to help my husband in representing Canada in the United States and to run the official residence as a home as well as an embassy."

That job of representation can be pretty strenuous in a capital with 76 diplomatic missions. Apart from the run-of-the-mill diet of official parties, virtually all of the embassies have national days, such as Canada's Dominion Day holiday, and the niceties of diplomatic protocol require Canadian representation at most, if not all, of them. Thus, the Heeneys not infrequently find themselves splitting up for the evening, each attending a different reception. A native of Montreal who attended McGill University and Miss Edgar's School for Girls, she concedes that she never had thought, when she was at McGill as Margaret Yule, that she one day would have to entertain as many as 1,000 guests in a single evening.

That's precisely what she did recently when she and the ambassador gave the embassy's one big party of the year, a two-hour garden party in honor of the Queen's official Canadian birthday.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Yule of Montreal, she met Heeneys at McGill, where she was a student and he, while studying law, was teaching American history. They were married June 27, 1931, and celebrate their silver wedding anniversary this year. The Heeneys lived in Montreal, where Heeneys practised law, until 1938, when he went into government service. From Ottawa they went in 1952 to Paris, where Heeneys served as Canadian ambassador to NATO, and then came to Washington the following year.

THE BARBERS' ASSOCIATION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Board of Examiners in barbering, appointed under the provisions of the Barber's Act of British Columbia, will hold examinations in the City of Vancouver, B.C., commencing Monday, August 12, 1936.

Applications, including fee of Ten Dollars and a medical certificate from a British Columbia medical practitioner, showing that the applicant is free from any infectious or contagious disease, must be filed with the Secretary of the Board on or before Monday, July 27th, 1936.

By Order of the Board of Examiners:

TOKYO (AP)—Hiroshi Ikeda, the son of a policeman, married a police chief's daughter in 1947. She left him in 1950. Police arrested him Thursday and charged he rifled 83 safes and stole 40,000,000 yen. ($110,000) since his marriage went awry.

U.K. DOCTORS BAN SMOKING AT OWN MEET

BRIGHTON, Eng. (Reuters)—British doctors started their annual conference here with a decision to set a good example and ban smoking during the session.

Although one delegate said doctors who smoke are dishonoring the profession, many doctors shouted in opposition when the ban was proposed.

Dr. L. M. Johnston said, "Smoking is the most serious killer in the country."

Sufficient Feed For Farmers Now, Kiernan Thinks

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan said today he believes there will now be sufficient feed available to meet the needs of B.C. farmers this season.

Following a meeting with the joint committee set up by farmers of Vancouver Island and the Fraser Valley, Mr. Kiernan said:

"We estimate there will be at least 200,000 tons of hay produced this season in the area comprising the Columbia Basin, the Yakima Valley and Ellensburg in Eastern Washington. They have harvested their first cut and have now started on the second. We are satisfied from reports that there will be sufficient hay available for our needs."

'HUBBA-HUBBA' DEFINITION CAME EASIEST BY GESTURE

FORT MONMOUTH, N.J. (UP)—The latest addition to this Army Signal Corps centre is colloquial communications. It seems soldiers of other nations often have trouble "digging" American talk even when they know English.

To assist foreigners who stumble over such Americanisms as "in hot water," "snowed under" and some of the more esoteric jargon such as "man, it's so cool, I'm sweating," the army set up what it calls the extra-curricular English training program.

Emphasis is placed chiefly on the typical. Grammar is of secondary importance. At least 30 minutes of each session are devoted to slang expressions which students bring in for clarification.

But sometimes even the instructors are stumped. Recently a Brazilian major asked for a definition of "hubba-hubba." While the experts were pondering a satisfactory translation, a Japanese major, with a few unmistakable gestures of the hand, translated the term into international lingo.

ARCTIC ISLANDS OURS

Victorian's Papers Prove Claim Valid

A retired Victoria doctor and former MLA here has established once and for all Canada's sovereignty claim to the Arctic islands.

Dr. L. E. Borden, 79, 1315 Monterey Avenue, has cleared it up for Ottawa.

Believed to be the last survivor of a 1903 expedition which took official possession of Arctic regions for Canada, he has made his long-forgotten reports available to the government.

He was the doctor aboard a government-sponsored expedition from Halifax in 1903 when the Newfoundland sealing vessel Neptune sailed north under command of Capt. A. P. Low.

The issue came up Thursday in the Commons when H. W. Herridge, CCF member for Kootenay West, showed proof "the Canadian Arctic belongs to Canada." His proof were documents produced from Dr. Borden.

Research was undertaken following reports that U.S. servicemen in the Arctic did not seem to realize Canadian sovereignty rights over the area.

On the Neptune's expedition, official possession was taken of Ellesmere and Southampton islands, and all adjacent smaller islands. Ellesmere is far north, Southampton is in Hudson Bay.

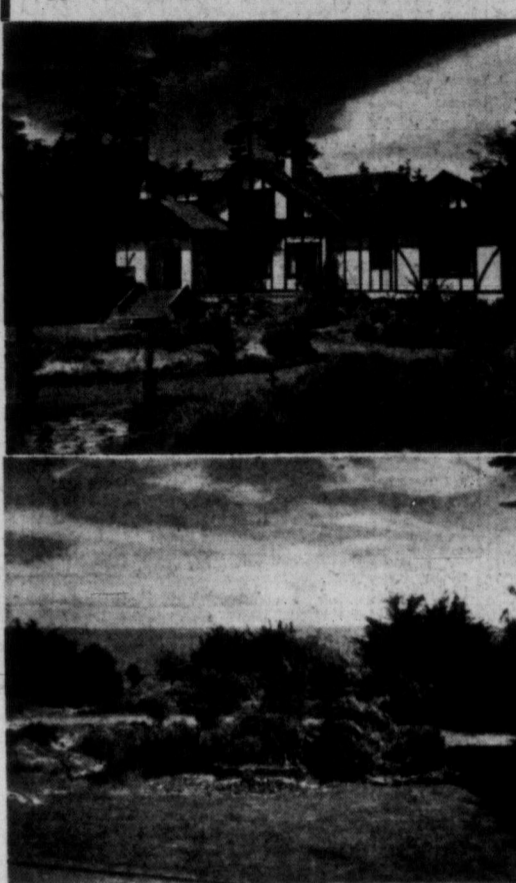

Mr. Herridge put a question on the Commons order paper last year, asking the government to define the land area, Dr. Borden heard of this, and answered.

Canada regards its Arctic as all that area between two geographic lines drawn from the western and eastern ends of Canada and meeting at the north pole.

Dr. Borden said regarding the Plot to Fire Prison Revealed by Czechs

VIENNA (CP)—A plot to set fire to Prague's big Pankrac prison and seize the radio station and central post office was disclosed for the first time today.

Reuters News Agency in a Prague dispatch reported that the plot took place three years ago.

A Prague newspaper reported the incident today.

The newspaper says the armed plotters were captured and "liquidated in a single day."

It added that in capturing two of the leading plotters there was gunfire in which a security policeman was killed.

The story of the plot was published in Prague, official organ of the Czechoslovak trade unions.

The article was entitled "Day by Day in Combat Against Enemies of the State." It also relates the capture of various other alleged spies and subversives and charged that all were in the pay of American and other "imperialist intelligence services."

No dates of these actions were given.

Prace says the gang which plotted to fire Pankrac—Czechoslovakia's biggest prison on the outskirts of the capital—and seize the radio and post office nearer the centre of town was composed of former private business people and former Czechoslovak army officers. It did not state how many were involved but said the leader was a man named Jirasek.

"There was a brief panic," the newspaper relates, "during which the leader, Jirasek, was able to escape. But Jirasek was later trapped in his home. In this affray there was shooting in which a 30-year-old security policeman was killed."

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

Modern telephone cables are made up of many insulated copper wires. These cables can handle several thousand telephone calls simultaneously. Copper for nearly 75% of our telephone cables is mined, milled, smelted and refined by Inco right here in Canada. Then it goes to other Canadian companies for the manufacture of wire and cable. This cable is sold to telephone companies for installation in underground systems, like the one shown here, or in overhead telephone lines. All these operations make jobs for Canadian workmen.

Cables like this, made from INCO COPPER, handle thousands of telephone calls at once!

... and help provide jobs for Canadians

First, the ore from Inco's mines near Sudbury, Ontario, is processed in the Inco mill, the Inco smelter and the Inco copper refinery. It helps make jobs for about 18,000 Inco employees.

Next, the refined copper is sold to Canadian companies that manufacture copper wire and cable. There, Inco copper helps provide jobs for several thousand more employees.

Then, the cable goes to Canadian telephone companies where it helps make jobs for many thousands more Canadians.

Inco produces over 250,000,000 pounds of copper a year. And more than half of this copper goes to Canadian industries. Almost 75% of the telephone lines in Canada are made from Inco copper. From the ore to the finished cable, this Inco copper stays in Canada and helps provide employment for Canadians.

Capital City Grant Sparks Council Meet

A special meeting of city council was called today for Thursday, July 12, by Mayor Percy Scurreh for consideration of formal proposals to the Capital Improvement District Commission.

The commission indicated at its first meeting Thursday a grant of $75,000 would be made available to the city over the money the city is asked to present a program stating how the grant will be used.

So far council has indicated willingness to abide by recommendations of City Engineer James C. Garnett. He says the money should be used to beautify Douglas Street where it adjoins Beacon Hill Park.

His plan calls for widening of the street to 36 feet, installation of parking bays facing the park which would accommodate 300 cars, as well as installation of curbs and gutters.

Parking would probably be prohibited elsewhere on the park side of the street except in the bays.

Mayor Scurreh says he favors the engineer's plan but must have decision of council recorded in detail at the special council meeting.

Council has adjourned for the summer months except for emergency meetings at the call of the chair. Another such meeting is slated for Thursday, July 19, when a public hearing will be held with respect to a minor zoning change.

Noisy Mt. Tolmie Parties Bring Strong Complaint

Complaints of noisy nocturnal parties on the Mount Tolmie summit may result in closure of the area to cars after 10 p.m., it was disclosed today.

Reeve Arthur Ash said Saanich, Police Commission will consider introducing a by-law closing the park to traffic.

A Mount Tolmie resident complained in a letter to the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee Tuesday of loud motors and finding beer bottles strewn around the summit.

Similar complaints have been received in the past, it was stated.

U.S. Ambassador To Make 3 Calls During Visit Here

United States Consul General Laverne Baldwin today announced the schedule of appearances of U.S. ambassador to Canada, Livingstone T. Merchant, who arrives here Monday.

The ambassadorial party leave Vancouver by steamer at midnight Sunday and arrives here before 8 a.m. At 10 a.m. he will meet Mayor Percy Scurreh at city hall.

The ambassador will call on Premier W. A. C. Bennett at the Legislative Buildings at 10:30 a.m. and an hour later will visit Government House. He will depart by air for Vancouver at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Merchant will accompany the ambassador.

Mr. Merchant was appointed to the top diplomatic post in April of this year.

A Chemainus youth whose car struck a child on Douglas Street was fined $50 in Saanich court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Lucas Bazun was fined an additional $25 for failing to have liability insurance.

Magistrate Henry Hall remanded him one week for disposition of his driver's licence after counsel pleaded that he be allowed to drive a truck on his father's farm.

Car Drags Boy 14 Blocks To His Death

Frantic Brother
Runs, Screams
After Driver

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP) — Police today held a young fisherman as the driver of a hit-run car which dragged an 11-year-old bicyclist 14 blocks through town, past hundreds of horrified witnesses, to his death.

The death car lurched on at high speed despite outcries of bystanders, with the boy's bicycle dangling from the rear bumper and the boy bouncing behind, his foot hung in the twisted bicycle, police said.

Police Thursday arrested Allan Harold Beck, 18, at a wharf where his shrimp boat was tied up and held him on a technical charge of manslaughter after the death of Francis Joseph Biesel, Jr.

HEAD BUMPED

Witnesses said Beck drove from the scene through downtown Key West, dragging the twisted wreckage of the bicycle and the victim, whose head bumped continuously along the rough street.

Biesel's brother Christopher, 10, who fell unhurt from the same bicycle when it was struck, scrambled to his feet and ran frantically after the car yelling, "For God's sake stop, mister! For God's sake, stop!"

Police said hundreds of horrified passersby along the mile-long death route either shouted at the driver or gestured mutely when they saw the human form bouncing along behind the car. Finally the car halted and was abandoned.

Bernard Waite, assistant chief of police, said the youngster probably was alive throughout most of the ride but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the navy hospital.

Baby 'Alive, Well' Reports Kidnapper

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — A person believed to be the kidnapper of month-old Peter Weinberger telephoned the parents' home today, saying the baby was alive and well.

Morris Weinberger, the child's father, told the caller he was prepared to meet a ransom demand.

Weinberger said the call came at 9:40 a.m. and that he told the caller:

"Am ready to meet your demand, awaiting your call."

It was not made clear just why the response was worded in such fashion and Weinberger revealed little else about the conversation, or whether he would seek to make a private effort to get the baby back.

Police have said they could not legally pull out of the case but that the concern is the safety of the baby and they would do anything possible in this connection.

Weinberger's son was taken from a carriage at the back of their fashionable home here on Wednesday afternoon while the mother stepped into the house a moment.

A note was left, demanding $2,000 ransom.

Police baited a trap for the kidnapper Thursday with packages supposedly containing ransom money but mostly containing newspaper in bill size.

BRITAIN WILL GIVE UP CEYLON SEA, AIR BASES

LONDON (AP)—Britain tonight announced she has agreed to the request of the Ceylon government to give up her naval base at Trincomalee and her air base at Katunayake.

The Ceylonese have agreed, however, to continue to provide "certain facilities" for British forces in the vital Far East area.

In return, Britain will help Ceylon develop and expand her armed forces.

PMs Pledge New Efforts For Peace

First Aim, Says Communiqué

MARPOLE SPAN OUT AGAIN, GAGLARDI MAD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi today criticized tugboat operators for accidents happening "far too frequently" at Marpole bridge here.

"Tugboat operators should know a little more about operating their machinery than this," he said.

"I'm particularly upset about it," said Mr. Gagliardi on learning that the Vancouver link with Sea Island was out again after being hit by scows Thursday night.

Estimates are that the bridge will be out of service for from three days to a week.

In the final communiqué of their 10-day meeting in London, the nine premiers said the policies of the Commonwealth will be devoted to preserving world peace.

"This meeting," they said, "has been held at a significant stage in the development of international relations."

"A new element has been introduced by the growing recognition of the devastating power of thermo-nuclear weapons."

Other developments of importance, they said, included "changes in the Soviet Union."

The ministers deplored the "vast expenditures" wasted on arms and armaments throughout the world which, they said, "have delayed the full development of the world's natural resources for the common good."

ALL WANT PEACE

"The governments and the people of the Commonwealth are united in their desire for peace," the communiqué said.

"They seek friendly relations with all peoples of the world, and have no aggressive intent or design."

Turning to Russia's part in world affairs, the premiers said they had "reviewed the significant developments in the Soviet Union."

The statesmen, representing Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, have discussed practically every major foreign affairs issue from the Formosa problem to the reunification of Germany.

They concentrated particularly on the recent changes in Russia, and devoted three private plenary sessions to analyzing what effect these were likely to have on future relations between the Communist bloc and the rest of the world.

Conference sources pointed out that the prime ministers' meetings, now practically an annual event, are mainly for a free and frank exchange of views among members of the Commonwealth and are not convened to produce spectacular decisions.

DECISIONS VITAL

But since the nine statesmen represent over 500,000,000 persons, about a quarter of the earth's population, their conclusions have a vital bearing on world opinion.

Jealousy Kills 1,000 In France Every Year

PARIS (Reuters) — Jealousy kills 1,000 Frenchmen and women every year although it is a passion which in most cases can be cured by physical exercise combined with breathing pure oxygen, according to the French weekly newspaper France-Presse.

Left uncured, jealousy could cause physical ailments such as ulcers, and skin, heart and muscle diseases, it adds.

The newspaper says that one out of every 10 murders, or 3 attempted murders was motivated by jealousy, while hundreds of other persons are killed off by jealousy in disguised forms like suicide.

It says that 60 per cent of all Frenchmen and 40 per cent of all French women suffered from "chronic jealousy."

France-Presse says investigations showed definite physical characteristics common to jealous people.

BLAZE LIT CITY SKIES

Road. Fire marshal's office is investigating possible arson. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

WIRE BRIEFS

Aussies in Finals

WIMBLEDON (UP) — Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall of Australia reached the finals of the Wimbledon men's doubles tennis championship today by defeating Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., and Bob Howe, Australia, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

Stratotanker Burns

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP) — The Air Force announced that a KC-97 Stratotanker from Lake Charles, La., on temporary duty in Labrador, exploded today and burst into flames.

The six crew members were listed as missing.

An official said a spokesman from a sister plane said he saw the aircraft burst into flames and crashed 45 miles north of Goose Bay Air Force Base, Labrador.

Winger Still Leads

MONTREAL (UP)—Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex., slipped to an even-par 72 today after firing a course record 65 Thursday, but held a one-stroke lead over Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., with a 36-hole score of 137 in the $15,000 Canadian Open golf championship.

'DON'T SELL IT TO U.S.'

Vancouver Can Use All Columbia Power

VANCOUVER (CP) — All power developed on the Columbia River in Canada must be reserved for B.C. and not sold to the United States, says the report of a special city council committee.

Alderman Halford Wilson, chairman of the committee which will present its report to council Monday, said today Premier Bennett has been notified of the three-month study of power needs on the lower B.C. mainland.

He said he would give it "every consideration," said Ald. Wilson.

The report said even all the power available on the Columbia will not fully meet the requirements of Vancouver and the lower Fraser Valley area over the next 25 years.

The report will urge the provincial government to reserve adequate power potential for this area.

Power consumption in Greater Vancouver and the lower Fraser Valley, the report says, has reached a peak of 491,000 kilowatts. Rising at a rate of 10 to 15 per cent a year, according to B.C. Electric Company estimates, it will hit 6,000,000 kilowatts by 1980.

Any shortage of power would necessitate using steam-generation plants, the report says. This would raise the cost of electricity by some 45 per cent.

U.S. PROBLEM
This today is facing north-west states of the United States, where "much of the present prosperity and heavy industrialization is due to the large amounts of cheap power available."

"Such favorable conditions," the report quotes from a study made by the U.S. federal power commission, "are not expected to recur."

That area already is looking toward B.C. hydro sites to supply its power needs—to the very sites, says the report, which will become so vital to the lower mainland.

"The committee contends it would be against the best interests of B.C. to develop the Canadian part of the Columbia for the benefit of the Americans."

PROSECUTED
BY PUBLICAN,
MINOR FINED
VANCOUVER—The first prosecution of a minor by a beer parlor operator brought a $15 fine here Thursday.

Barry Conkin, 20, pleaded guilty in a suburban police court to a charge of being illegally in a beer parlor on June 23.

The charge was laid by beer parlor manager Orland McMaster.

Light-Dimmed Auto Seen Fleeing Area

A fire marshal's investigation into possible arson is underway today at the site of Atom Lumber Company mill, demolished in a flash fire Thursday night.

A blue sedan, with lights turned off, was seen leaving the area on Tye Road just as the small sawmill burst into flame.

Observers said the mill gave off a thick dense smoke then appeared to explode into a tower of flame noted by observers as far away as Elk Lake.

An unidentified man, thought to be intoxicated, was taken in charge by officers at the scene later as he attempted to enter the burning building. He said he "wanted to help the firemen."

The spectacular fire which drew crowds from all parts of the district, was reported at 10:55 p.m. Within half an hour, a crew of 16 city firemen had brought the blaze under control. But by that time the frame building was a complete loss, so quick had been the action of the fire.

LOSS $30,000

Loss was estimated by owner Piara Singh Sangha at up to $30,000. He said the mill was only partially insured.

The alarm was turned in by a CNR yard foreman, Robert E. Kyle, who was walking north on Tye when he noticed the smoke.

"I ran to the fire alarm box (on Bay Street) and turned in the alarm. The mill seemed to burst into fire all at once," he said.

He added, "There was a car going the other way (toward Johnson Street on Tye). It was funny, it had no lights on. But it might have been somebody else heading to turn in the alarm."

ALL-NIGHT WATCH

City fire chief Frank Briers said two pumpers and a service truck answered the alarm and stayed on the job for two hours. An all-night watch was maintained and two men were still probing for sparks at press time today. Earlier this morning flames broke out again in sawdust under the floor of the mill but the outbreak was quickly extinguished.

At the height of the blaze it appeared from city fringe areas that the whole of the downtown district was aflame. Sighting cars lined waterfront streets and police were forced to close Point Ellice Bridge to traffic.

CHIEF GETS JOLT

A near accident occurred at one point when a felled power line gave Fire Chief Briers a shock which penetrated his boots. He immediately ordered all firemen to halt operations until the line was snipped off.

The blaze started dogs held in SPCA kennels which adjoint the mill and barking and howling added to the noises generated by the fire.

The mill owner said he intends to rebuild "... as soon as I get my bearings."

"We are still in business. Our office, planer and lumber yard, located nearer Johnson Street, were untouched."

"We had a small loss of lumber. The fire will mean a lay-off for about 10 men." About 18 workers are employed by the Atom Company total operation.

Lake Swim Bid

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Marathon swimmer Jim Woods, 40, of Ashville, N.C., today dived into Lake Ontario, becoming the first this year to attempt to conquer the lake.

He entered the water at 12:07 p.m., immediately stroking out at 58 to the minute.

KURT MEYER SELLS BEER TO CANUCKS

OTTAWA (CP) — German SS. Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, once sentenced to death for responsibility in the mass shooting of 18 Canadian prisoners of war, now sells beer to the Canadian army.

Army sources here disclose that Meyer, who spent 9½ years in jail as a war criminal, is a beer salesman in the province of Westphalia in West Germany where the 2nd Canadian Infantry brigade is stationed.

Milner Quits Transport Post; Criticizes CPR

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal Transport Controller Roy W. Milner today announced his resignation and at the same time fired a volley of criticism at the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Milner, 64, told the Commons agriculture committee he will no longer be transport controller after the end of the current navigation season. He said later he would resign as of the end of 1956 though he would continue as a member of the board of grain commissioners.

LET DOWN BADLY

He made his announcement while describing the boxcar situation in Canada. He said he had been "let down badly" by the CPR when the prairies were in urgent need of cars for the movement of grain last spring.

Mr. Milner maintained no one could say that Canada was short of boxcars but if more had been provided during the six-week period of March 15-April 30 more grain could have been moved.

"Sick and tired of excuses," Mr. Milner had appealed directly to CPR President N. R. Crump who got "rid of the pencil-pushers and theorists and took over himself. We got more cars."

He said he had worked with the railways for the last five years and, with the exception of the spring episode, he had always received co-operation from them.

Mr. Milner emphasized that the privately-owned CPR has 17,000 fewer boxcars than the CNR. The government-owned CNR had been co-operative. For a time it had flooded the west with cars.

Bullet-Scarred Judge

Returns to Bench

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) — A popular British judge who was shot twice by Cypriot extremists returned to the Bench Thursday and acquitted two youths accused of bomb-throwing.

Sixty-five-year-old Judge Bernard Shaw, who described himself as "a tough old bird," was cheered by a group of Cypriots as he returned to his post.

He was ambushed by EOKA underground fighters June 25 and shot two times in the neck.

Back bounced Priestley with the remark that it was "quite plain to me" that Hutchison had never read the book—that the Canadian and his criticism were "desperately engaged in a shadow-boxing contest."

Hutchison, discussing the influence of the machine age on Americans, said:

"The leisure provided by the machine is too often squandered on cheap, worthless and debasing amusements. This, I am satisfied, is a passing phase, a fit of indignation from surfeit, the behavior of a small boy set loose in a candy store."

Priestley countered:

"The difference between us is that he seems to imagine that everything will come right by itself, whereas I am convinced that the whole drift is in the wrong direction."

"In fact, I consider writers like Mr. Hutchison, nice optimistic men who don't want to criticize too much and like to talk about 'passing phases,' are themselves dangerous, because they tell people to sleep when they ought to be waking them up."

NO CROSSWORD WINNER IN 11 WEEKS; PRIZE $350

Pawning is a painful process and the latter is what the results of last week's Crossword Contest proves to contestants. None had a completely correct answer, so this week's prize to subscribers is a fat $350.

One clue that stumped thousands was: "Ignore one and it may prove troublesome later on." Most entries gave the answer as "pain," but the implication is the trouble is not right now. A "paw" in chess might be troublesome later in the game but surely if you have "pain" it is giving you some trouble now.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on page 23 of today's Times.

WOMAN BEARS TWINS ALL ALONE AT HOME

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Betty Jordan, 25, gave birth to twin daughters Thursday night while she was alone in her small cottage.

"When you have to do something, you do it," Mrs. Jordan remarked later to a policeman who responded to her telephone call for aid.

A reporter said Mrs. Jordan explained she asked for aid only because one of the babies seemed to have trouble breathing. A physician later said the infant was all right.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband is a serviceman in North Africa.

Peashooters Shrunk, Or Peas Overgrown?

LONDON (AP)—Peashooters, have touched off a row between British peashooters and pea-shooter makers.

The question: Are British peashooters getting too small to shoot peas, or are peas getting too large to be shot in pea-shooters?

To John Christian, five, this is an important matter.

The boy recently reported to his father, Maj. John W. Rayner of the war office, that only about one dried pea in 20 would pass through his new shooter.

Tito Working Toward Third Force Grouping?

By HERB ALTSCHULL
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today Yugoslavia's President Tito soon will launch an ambitious campaign to set up a potent third force between the East and West.

These sources said reports from Belgrade indicate Tito already has begun the preliminary campaign to set up a potent third force between the East and West.

He has scheduled conferences this month with Asian and Middle East leaders that are expected to centre on cold war problems. According to Tito's own statements, a third force would work on two basic principles:

1. It would be "neutral" in the sense it would be part of no bloc and would take orders from no one, but it would arm itself to protect its independence.

2. It would practice peaceful "active co-existence" with both ends of the East-West pole and attempt to mediate the differences that started the cold war.

In what is considered a campaign kickoff, Tito has invited the chiefs of state of two prominent neutral countries—India and Egypt—to a series of conferences at his Adriatic island retreat of Brioni in mid-July.

There has been no announcement of an agenda, but it has been predicted the talks will wind up with a statement spelling out the meaning of "active co-existence" and an invitation to all countries to adopt this philosophy. The informants said

Tito's argument is that all ideologies must be submerged in a greater goal of world peace.

CONFERENCE WITH GREEKS

Tito likes the phrase "co-existence without neutrality," and Western diplomats say they believe Nasser probably will buy this and that Nehru might accept it if neutrality is defined carefully.

Tito plans to follow the Brioni conference with talks with Greek leaders on the island of Corfu late this month.

These talks are expected to concentrate on the Balkan alliance between Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

DOG'S BARK BRINGS FINE

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's suburban and fashionable Forest Hill Village, where birds are forbidden to sing loudly but church bells are sanctioned, was reassured of its tranquility Thursday when Mrs. M. Stark was fined $2 and costs for letting her dog bark.

A village by-law says: "No bell, horn, signal device, radio, phonograph, musical or sound-producing instrument, animal or bird shall unnecessarily disturb the peace, quiet, comfort and repose" of village citizens.

Commented Magistrate O. M. Martin: "It must be a good place to live."

Imports, Exports Break All Records

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's imports and exports shattered all records in May, but the trade deficit continued to swell, doubling in the month and increasing fourfold to a record in the first five months of the year.

The deficit—excess of imports over exports—rose in May to $119,300,000 from $61,000,000 last year, boosting the five-month total to $484,200,000 from $127,300,000 a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported today.

It said the rising deficit was linked with Canada's prosperity. Large amounts of goods were being imported to provide new machinery, equipment and construction materials to develop new industry and expand old ones.

But more consumer goods also were coming, the flow stimulated by increased levels of consumption. The main rise was from the United States, Canada's top customer and chief source of her imports. Canada's trade deficit with the U.S. continued to rise to new heights.

Exports in May to all countries totalled $435,300,000, a rise of $62,300,000 from last year's $373,000,000. Imports soared to $554,600,000, up $120,600,000 from $434,000,000 a year ago.

Sales Show Increase
OTTAWA (CP)—Net sales of petroleum products increased 4.6 per cent in March to 13,893,957 barrels from 13,308,111 in the preceding month, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Sales of motor gasoline rose in March to 5,400,157 barrels from 4,836,472, heavy fuel oil to 3,567,933 barrels from 3,540,397 and kerosene and stove oil to 1,828,936 barrels from 1,773,072 in February.

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian dollar was at premium of 2 1/2 per cent in terms of U.S. funds today. Found sterling 12 1/2.

NEW YORK (CP)—Aircrafts and chemicals continued to give leadership to a moderately higher stock market late this afternoon.

Oil prices were lower with International Nickel off 1 1/2 and Hudson Bay down 1 1/2. Conwest featured juniors, advancing 40 cents. Other juniors changed in pennies only. McIntyre gained 1 1/2 points and Hollinger a point in golds.

German Dancer, Teacher of Yoga To Lecture Here

A quiet spoken former German ballet dancer who became a yoga teacher said today people would be much happier and healthier if they practiced certain forms of yoga.

Mrs. Sylvia Hellman, 45-year-old Berlin-born dancer, who returned to Canada recently after completing six months' study of yoga in India, arrived in Victoria today to lecture on the Indian philosophy of life.

She will address a public meeting at the Sikh Temple at 8 p.m. Sunday, Mrs. Hellman, during her stay here, has been invited to stay at the summer home of Kapoor Singh, near Shawnigan Lake.

The serene looking yoga disciple, who attended the famous Yoga-Vedanta Forest University at Rishikesh in the Himalayas, recommended breathing exercises as a means of improving one's health.

'DO YOU TRUST YOUR WIFE? THEY ASK

Edgar Bergen Crew Here to Seek TV Contestants

By TONY DICKASON
Edgar Bergen's in trouble. His success on television has gone to his head, literally. Poor Bergie's difficulties arise from the fact he's bald. TV's klieg lights on the pate are unthinkable—too much reflection. So he wears a toupee. This poses another touching problem. Make-up mares the edges of the borrowed hair, so the boys with the cameras must exercise extreme caution.

There are nine in the party staying here for the day at Sam Lane's Olde England Inn. The men all said today they trust THEIR wives. Purpose of the short-haul visit is to drum up contestants for the program. Application forms will be left with Mr. Lane, and persons who want to make a public TV spectacle of themselves—many do—can start the brawl rolling by picking up an application, filling it out, and sending it to Mr. Ben Smith, supervising editor.

The program to date has received 90 letters from residents of this area, who want to prove in public they believe wife is dependable. Just ordinary people are not in demand for the show. If, however, you are chief bait boy on a barracuda barge, and your wife is an acrobat, Mr. Smith will gobble you up.

If successful, a couple may retire for life thanks to "Do You Trust Your Wife." There's a weekly payoff of $100 to the winning couple for one year; then they compete with other knowledgeable pairs. The whole thing builds up to the point where one can pay off several waiting laundriesmen and buy a first-class home mangle.

VOICE-TOSSER EDGAR BERGEN dandles two claims for his success on knees. Successful firm sponsoring Bergen is McCarthy and Snerd.

One rather large U.S. banker typifies the public reaction to "Do You?" He plays the question game with his wife, and wrote the studio to say he's found out more about her since than he ever realized existed.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Things and stuff, strictly off the cuff:

The best apology I have heard in all my life is one which came to my ears when a glass got itself upset, somehow, over a dinner table.

Said the upsetter of the glass: "I'm terribly, terribly sorry."

But I am waiting for the terribly, terribly honest person who changes the old phrase from "I don't mean to interrupt, but . . ." to "I mean to interrupt, so here goes."

No doubt you have noticed the lineup of swimmers waiting to bathe across Juan de Fuca Strait.

But possibly you do not know exactly what they are waiting for.

Is it the tide? Is it the weather?

No.

It is a sponsor.

As the new saying goes, it isn't the challenge. It's the money.

I notice the members of the Saanich council are all growing beards, in honor of the Golden Anniversary of that progressive, bustling municipality.

This fact has cleared up a question which has long been in my mind.

I have often wondered why the Saanich council meetings last so long, and what is being accomplished.

The answer, as you can plainly see, is that the councillors are waiting for their heads to grow.

I must take exception to the opinion expressed by Maurice Tozer of Sooke, in a letter to the editor of this newspaper. Mr. Tozer indicated he didn't like the type of advertising being used by the department of agriculture to urge B.C. people to buy B.C. products.

Mr. Tozer said: "If it is necessary to advertise B.C. foods to B.C. people, let us have pictures of pigs, sheep and cows. Then we shall be sure food is being advertised and not the prime minister's office."

The reason I take exception to Mr. Tozer's opinion is, I like the department of agriculture's advertisements with Mr. Bennett's picture in them.

After all, Mr. Bennett is much prettier than a pig, sheep, or even cow.

Besides which, who would wish to vote for a pig, sheep or even cow?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Saanich surveyor Bill Muir Sunday will make his third attempt this year to beat the waters of Juan de Fuca.

He will leave from Saxe Point at 10 a.m., and hopes to catch a tide which will sweep him past Race Rocks and towards Port Angeles.

Bob Best has been named president of the reorganized Y.M.C.A. Bar-Bell Club and Dick Wood has been named secretary.

Membership in the club is open to all men who hold a physical department membership.

Instructions are given each week-day evening between 7 and 9:30 o'clock.

The federal fisheries protection cruiser Howay left here today to test the possibility of a tuna fishery off the B.C. coast this year.

A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries, said the Howay would cruise up to 150 miles westward, broadcasting information on any conditions known to be favorable to tuna.

Some west coast fishermen have reported that water temperatures have been higher this year and that tuna may re-appear in northern offshore waters.

No tuna fishing has been done in the waters in the last three years.

Province To Make Mica Dam Survey

Premier Says Water Rights Job Will Take Two Years to Finish

Premier Bennett said today the provincial government will make its own survey on the building of the Mica Creek dam through its water rights branch.

He expects the survey will take about two years and that a start will be made soon.

"Anyone can make the survey," he said, "but the only survey I am concerned with is the one we shall make ourselves through the water rights branch."

At a meeting between Premier Bennett and Federal Resources Minister Jean Lesage last Wednesday, it was agreed the dam at Mica Creek is essential to any major development on the Upper Columbia River. They agreed that engineering studies relating to the dam should proceed without awaiting the outcome of negotiations on international river rights.

Asked if the B.C. Power Commission had made any move towards building the dam, the premier replied:

"No one can make any move until they know what the potentialities are. Under our agreement with the federal government anyone can make a survey, including private interests. I am only concerned with our own survey."

Mr. Bennett emphasized the federal government has agreed to give B.C. all available data on the Columbia River.

Central and Beacon Hill Parks catered to the majority of youngsters, with Oaklands Park a close third. "For a park of its size, Oaklands has been exceptional," Mr. Hartley said.

"Since Tuesday, about 500 children have participated in games and projects there."

Tennis instruction will begin Monday at Central Park at 2 p.m. for children aged 10 and up. Instructors will be Mr. Hartley and John Fraser, a promising junior player in the city and a product of playground tennis lessons.

Tennis instruction will be given at Stadacona Park, Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Swimming classes commence at the Crystal Garden Tuesday at 9 a.m. for boys, and Friday for girls. Supervisors are Fred Ellison, chief lifeguard at the Crystal, Don Smyth, Joan Kelly, Frances Rigby and Barrie Worthington.

Oak Bay's rose garden at Newport and Currie Road has never been lovelier according to A. S. G. Musgrave, the township's engineer, and thousands of citizens who have visited it.

The bushes came through the hard winter well, says Mr. Musgrave, the lawns are like rich velvet, and new colorful rose varieties have been added.

Grace Mayhew, 3125 Beach, and Harold M. Robinson, 860 Richmond, each were fined $25 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday for driving without licences.

Theft of two pounds of coffee from Hudson's Bay Co. cost Frank Ellis a 15-day jail sentence when he appeared in city police court today.

TIGHTLY FOUGHT

U.S. Wins Feature Race

In Yachting

A United States team narrowly defeated Canadian representatives in the feature race of the PCYA-PIYA combined regatta this morning.

Sailing six metre yachts, the U.S. team won by 14 points over the Canadian.

The Canadians led first time around the triangular course in Cadboro Bay but Juno went aground for two minutes at Cattle Point, and the delay made the difference in a tightly-fought race.

In the other feature race this morning for the inter-association trophy of the PIYA, the PIYA crew was first, the Yacht Racing Association of San Francisco Bay was second, and the Columbia River Yachting Association, third.

In the series race which ended Thursday, Sea Fever of Seattle Yacht Club won the AA Class. Other series results, subject to correction after the race committee has sifted protests, follow:

A class, Katel, SYC; B class, Karen IV, Corinthian YC; Eight metre, Fulmar, Royal Vancouver YC; International 14, Easter Egg, CYC; Lightnings, Pukeko, Merit Lake Sailing Club, Oakland, Calif.; Comets, Nifty, Maple Bay YC; Snipes, Risk, Maple Bay YC; Penguins, Mouta, SYC.

In the Sears Cup eliminations for the Junior North American sailing championship the first series race was won by D. Carr of Oakland.

Yacht club officials, from commodore Morris Green right down the list, are almost as tired from taking bows as from the actual work of running the regatta.

Visiting yachtsmen have nothing but praise for the arrangements. Said one from Los Angeles: "I thought we knew how to do things down our way, but you're showing us how."

Immigration paper work can be conducted there in advance and passengers who attend to this business early are able to board vessels with a minimum of delay.

Even if vacationers intend entering the United States at other border points than Victoria, they can attend to immigration details here. They will be provided with authority for entry which can be used elsewhere.

PERSONAL CALL
Persons intending to holiday south of the border should apply in person to the immigration office and will be asked to provide identification. Birth certificates, if available, are best, but other papers are acceptable.

These streamlined requirements apply only to Canadian-born residents who are traveling to the U.S. for a temporary stay. Anyone seeking permanent residence must call at the office on Fort Street and undergo a much more rigid examination and prove qualification.

3 City Motorists Fined; One Must Give Up Licence
Thomas W. Sallaway, 3041 Millgrove street, was fined $35 and had his driver's licence suspended when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of careless driving.

Police said Sallaway was driving south on Douglas when he turned left onto Pandora and collided with another car in the intersection.

Magistrate Henry Hall fined Henry Cecil Gilliland $35, but allowed him to keep his licence after he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Police said there was no stop sign at Burdette and Vancouver streets where Gilliland collided with another car. Total damage to the two cars was $400.

Bahadar Paul Manhas, 2575 Cook street, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty to driving without eyeglasses as required by his licence.

Soldier Says Guilty To 4 Cheque Charges
Robert F. Millette, 18-year-old Gordon Head soldier, pleaded guilty in city police court today to four charges of fraud involving worthless cheques.

He was remanded to Wednesday for a probation report and sentencing.

Millette was accused of a cheque-cashing spree at Hudson's Bay Co. starting June 9.

On four separate occasions, court was told, Millette received $10 cash at the store for worthless cheques until he was arrested June 30 on his fifth try.

Pendray Will Benefits Many

Bequests totalling $100,800 to various Victoria institutions were made in the will of the late Herbert J. Pendray of the British America Paint Company, which has been filed for probate.

Mr. Pendray died last January.

Largest of the public bequests is $50,000 to the Metropolitan United Church, payable at $5,000 annually.

The B.C. Protestant Orphanage will receive $10,000, the Salvation Army $10,000, the YMCA $5,000 and YWCA $2,500, the George Pringle Memorial Camp $2,500 and the Resthaven Seventh Day Adventist Church $2,000.

Personal bequests include $5,000 at $50 per month to Mr. Pendray's retired gardener, a similar amount to a family friend, $10,000 to a niece, $5,000 to a nephew, and $1,000 each to two domestic servants.

The residue of the estate is divided equally among the living children of Mr. Pendray's brother, J. Carl Pendray, and their spouses.

B.C. Must Import Skill and Talent, Says Williston

British Columbia is so short of engineers and teachers "we are ready to import them from wherever they are to be found," Ray Williston said today, speaking in his dual capacity as lands and forests minister and minister of education.

"In other words," Mr. Williston said, "we are becoming importers of skill and talent. We have been recruiting for engineers and teachers right across Canada and the supply is obviously insufficient to meet the needs of a rapidly expanding province."

"We will go anywhere to find them, and that naturally includes the United States. Our need is great."

The minister admitted it would be necessary to recruit engineers from outside the province to meet the requirements of the government's water rights program.

Border Crossings Boosted Two Ways

The tourist bureau counts them coming in; but the U.S. Immigration counts them going out.

Figures released today by the U.S. officials show that although more and more Americans are paying us visits this year—more and more Canadians are crossing the line to the south.

Boat passengers proceeding from this port to Washington State ports in June totaled 29,600—up 10 per cent from a record 25,800 in June last year.

Non-American citizens leaving Victoria for U.S. ports in May totaled 3,620. This jumped to 5,388 in June as the holiday season began.

One year ago, the total for May was 3,077 and for June 6,025.

TRIP SIMPLER NOW
Officer-in-charge of U.S. Immigration here, L. B. Ruud, said his staff has been enlarged in the last year, which combined with some easing of entry regulations, had made it simpler for Canadian residents to cross the border.

New forms are in use which reduce questions to six entries where 22 were previously required.

It is no longer necessary for holidaying U.S.-bound passengers to call first at the immigration office at 630 Fort before embarking. But such practice is recommended as a time-saver.

Immigration paper work can be conducted there in advance and passengers who attend to this business early are able to board vessels with a minimum of delay.

Smother Jealous Streak For a Happier Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a person is aware of some personality weakness and what it can do to her life, the first step in correcting it has been taken.

(Q)—"I am of a jealous nature and always have been. My mother is that way too and I have seen how it has ruined her marriage. She and Dad barely speak to one another because my mother is always accusing him of being unfaithful to her. I have been going with a fellow for the past two years and have fallen deeply in love with him. But I am just as jealous of him as my mother is of my father. Do you think I will get over being jealous after I am married, or will I be like my mother? My boy friend gets very angry when I show this jealous streak and, unless I can control it, I am afraid it will ruin my marriage just as it has ruined my parents' marriage. Have I inherited this from my mother and, if so, can it be corrected?"—W. P.

(A)—Jealousy is not an inherited trait. If it were, you couldn't correct it. But, because it is acquired, it can be corrected. You have already taken the first step in this direction by recognizing the seriousness of it and wanting to correct it.

The later stages of correction, however, are far more difficult than the first and will need more time and effort on your part. Don't consider marrying this young man until you have proved to yourself and to him you have overcome your jealousy.

Jealousy springs from feelings of insecurity. The reason you are jealous of this young man, and that is true of your mother's attitude toward your father also, is that you are unsure of his love for you and of your ability to hold his love.

Now it is up to you to convince yourself that he loves you. If he has gone with you for two years and has intimated that he wants to marry you, this should prove the first point to you. As for your ability to hold his love, this you can do only when you can behave so he does not become angry when you suggest he cares more for someone else than for you.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Joan Hansen and Mr. John Shields, whose marriage takes place this evening, were guests of honor when Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Shields entertained the bridal party and guests at a buffet supper following the wedding rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. V. Tremblay, Beach drive, entertained last evening to honor their daughter, bride-elect Miss Betty Tremblay, and her fiancé, Mr. Duncan Vincent Reynolds. Guests included Miss Bernice Loblick and Mrs. C. B. Kidd of Edmonton; Mrs. F. D. Reynolds, mother of the groom; Miss Gladys Tremblay, sister of the bride-elect and Mr. and Mrs. William Buchan.

Mrs. Bud Hitchcox was hostess recently at her home, 1334 Pandora avenue, with a surprise miscellaneous shower to honor bride-elect, Miss Betty Heinesen, whose marriage to Mr. Ron Martin takes place July 14. Upon her arrival, Miss Heinesen was presented with a corsage of pink sweet peas and carnations, while her mother, Mrs. P. Heinesen, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. F. Martin, received corsages of mauve sweet peas. Guests were Mrs. A. G. Day, Mrs. M. Cole, Mrs. W. Hitchcox, Mrs. E. Cole, Mrs. T. Tucker, Mrs. B. Lawless, Misses Pat Martin, Elaine Martin, Delors Falls, Alice Nuttal, Jean Provan, Ann Sprinkling, Pat Heinesen and Pat Cole.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Reports Read—Committee reports of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were read Tuesday at a meeting conducted by president, Mrs. M. Carver. Past president, Mrs. A. Smith reported on the annual provincial convention in New Westminster. It was announced that Class "A" trophy was won by the Auxiliary Ritualistic team and the annual Field Team Trophy was presented to the Ladies' Auxiliary No. 12 drill team. Mrs. Smith will be the representative at the grand auxiliary convention in Milwaukee in August. A new member, Mrs. B. Duffield, was initiated. A gift was presented to Mrs. L. Hansen in honor of her recent marriage.

Raise Salaries—Following a study of staff salaries of the Aged Women's Home at a recent meeting of the board of directors, it was decided that an upward revision will take effect immediately. It was announced that membership of the home now stands at 97.

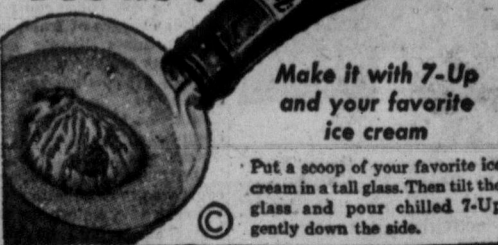

Mash 1 cup blueberries in 1 cup water and cook gently for 10 minutes. Run through a sieve and add 1 cup sugar to this liquid. Heat to dissolve and bring to boiling point. Stir into it 1 tablespoon gelatin, which has been soaked in 2 tablespoons cold water. Add ½ teaspoon lemon juice, and when juice is cold, add 2 cups big fresh blueberries.

Place in refrigerator until thick, only. Now pour over the pudding in the pie shell and top with the choicest big blueberries. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve.

This is a delicious pie which may be made the day before.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Constipation is a stubborn condition to break. However, this can be done if you will be patient and will adhere to a routine for some time.

As you probably know, it is important that you get enough roughage in your diet. Fruits and vegetables are helpful. A diet of highly refined foods is one reason for this condition. Acidophilus milk often is beneficial. This increases the number of friendly bacteria in the intestinal tract. If, for some reason such as colitis, you cannot eat foods which give you sufficient bulk there are products which can be used instead. Your doctor should suggest one for you.

Few people realize what an important part exercise plays in overcoming this condition. Try this as part of your routine. Get up a little earlier in the morning. Drink a glass of ice cold water. Wait for a few minutes and then do some abdominal exercises. This is a good one. Sit on the floor and lean back on your elbows, legs resting on the floor in front of you. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. Stretch the left leg up toward the ceiling. Lower left leg to the floor (with a straight knee). Continue, alternating left and right.

Another: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands. Pull back gently toward the abdomen. Return arms and legs to the floor.

Such exercises increase tone and massage the intestines. This, plus the ice water, help in starting the peristaltic waves in the intestinal tract.

If you would like to have my leaflet which contains information for overcoming constipation, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 23 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

There's No Summer Treat Like Blueberry Pancakes

New glamour is provided our old friend, the pancake, when fresh blueberry season rolls around once again.

Here is a summertime delicacy both family and guests will love. You'll make it again and again . . . each time with the same delicious results.

Blueberry Pancakes—Sift together 1 cup flour and 5 tablespoons confectioner's sugar. Stir in 1 cup milk stirring until perfectly smooth. In a deep bowl beat 3 eggs until light and foamy. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and fold through eggs. Carefully fold the eggs through flour mixture. Don't beat. Add a little grated orange rind and 1 teaspoon lemon juice or orange juice.

Fry on hot lightly buttered griddle, pouring only about 2 tablespoons batter onto griddle. Cakes should be paper thin and spread all over surface of griddle. Fry gently until crisp and just soft enough to roll.

Mash 1 cup blueberries and add sugar to taste, then add whole berries. Brush pancakes with melted butter and fill with blueberries. Roll, fasten with picks. Dust with confectioner's sugar and serve hot.

Joint Columbia-Fraser Plan Still On

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian co-chairman of the International Joint Committee, today said the Columbia-Fraser diversion proposal has not been abandoned.

"It still is an active proposal and in fact is the only active one in conjunction with the United States that is before the commission at the moment," he said.

Drunken Brawl Killer Gets Reprieve

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence passed on Robert Alfred Bradley, 34, convicted of beating to death a companion following a rubbing-alcohol drinking spree.

Bradley, a Winnipeg laborer, was convicted Nov. 2 last of the murder of August Flatfoot, an Indian, in a Winnipeg back alley Jan. 6, 1955. The Manitoba Court of Appeal unanimously dismissed his appeal Feb. 8 and the Supreme Court of Canada in a 4-to-3 decision dismissed a further appeal.

Postal Service to Use PGE Extension

OTTAWA (CP)—Postmaster General Lapointe said today his department intends to use the southward extension of British Columbia's Pacific Great Eastern Railway for postal service.

But definite plans were impossible until construction of the line from Squamish to North Vancouver was completed and regular schedules were published.

Mr. Lapointe was replying to a Commons question by H. W. Herridge, (CCF-Kootenay West).

NATO Student Pilot Killed

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (BUP)—A Harvard training plane from the Moose Jaw RCAF airbase has crashed and burned, killing the student pilot. Airforce officials say the plane, carrying a NATO student pilot who was soloing, dived towards the ground 10 miles northwest of Spring Valley this afternoon. The pilot of another Harvard reported seeing the accident.

Finsterwald Leads Canadian Open Golf

POINTE CLAIRE, Que. (CP)—Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, fired a second-round 69 today to take over the lead in the Canadian Open golf championship with a two-round total of 136.

Finsterwald's three-under-par round, with his 67 on Thursday, put him one stroke ahead of Bo Winger of Odessa, Texas, who took a par 72 today to put with his sensational 65 Thursday.

On stroke behind Winger was Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who had a 68-70 and at 139 was Bill Casper Jr. of Chula Vista, Calif., with 72-67. Car Drags Boy

14 Blocks
To His DeathFrantic Brother
Runs, Screams
After Driver

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP)—Police today held a young fisherman as the driver of a hit-run car which dragged an 11-year-old bicyclist 14 blocks through town, past hundreds of horrified witnesses, to his death.

The death car lunged on at high speed despite outcries of bystanders, with the boy's bicycle dangling from the rear bumper and the boy bouncing behind, his foot hung in the twisted bicycle, police said.

Police Thursday arrested Allan Harold Beck, 18, at a wharf where his shrimp boat was tied up and held him on a technical charge of manslaughter after the death of Francis Joseph Biessel, Jr.

Witnesses said Beck drove from the scene through downtown Key West, dragging the twisted wreckage of the bicycle and the victim, whose head bumped continuously along the rough street.

Biessel's brother Christopher, 10, who fell unhurt from the same bicycle when it was struck, scrambled to his feet and ran frantically after the car yelling, "For God's sake stop, mister! For God's sake, stop!"

Police said hundreds of horrified passersby along the mile-long death route either shouted at the driver or gestured mutely when they saw the human form bouncing along behind the car. Finally the car halted and was abandoned.

Bernard Waite, assistant chief of police, said the youngster probably was alive throughout most of the ride but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the navy hospital.

BLAZE LIT CITY SKIES

Red sky over Victoria late Thursday resulted from flash fire which demolished Atom Lumber sawmill on Tye

Road. Fire marshal's office is investigating possible arson. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

Fire Damages
Sooke Area
School Shop

Fire, thought to have been electrical in origin, burned the roof and one wall from a school workshop building at Milnes Landing High School this afternoon.

Sooke volunteer fire department, aided by district loggers, extinguished the flames after a one-hour battle. Tools and equipment from the electrical workshop were carried to safety by the volunteers.

The alarm was turned in at 1 p.m. by school board employee Jack Zelanko. He said he was finishing his lunch when he saw smoke coming from a window. The fire apparently started in the wiring of a fan blower unit.

Car Without Lights
Seen Leaving Area

A fire marshal's investigation into possible arson is underway today at the site of Atom Lumber Company mill, demolished in a flash fire Thursday night.

A blue sedan, with lights turned off, was seen leaving the area on Tye Road just as the small sawmill burst into flame.

Observers said the mill gave off a thick dense smoke then appeared to explode into a tower of flame noted by observers as far away as Elk Lake.

An unidentified man, thought to be intoxicated, was taken in charge by officers at the scene later as he attempted to enter the burning building. He said he "wanted to help the firemen."

The spectacular fire which drew crowds from all parts of the district, was reported at 10:55 p.m. Within half an hour, a crew of 16 city firemen had brought the blaze under control. But by that time the frame building was a complete loss, so quick had been the action of the fire.

Loss was estimated by owner Piara Singh Sangha at up to $30,000. He said the mill was only partially insured. The alarm was turned in by a CNR yard foreman, Robert E. Kyle, who was walking north on Tye when he noticed the smoke.

"I ran to the fire alarm box (on Bay Street) and turned in the alarm. The mill seemed to burst into fire all at once," he said.

He added, "There was a car going the other way (toward Johnson Street on Tye). It was funny, it had no lights on. But it might have been somebody else heading to turn in the alarm."

ALL-NIGHT WATCH
City fire chief Frank Briers said two pumps and a service truck answered the alarm and stayed on the job for two hours. An all-night watch was maintained.

Fresh Peace Efforts Pledged by Premiers

'Comprehensive Disarmament' Pact
Sought By Commonwealth Nations

LONDON (AP)—The prime ministers of the Commonwealth today pledged themselves to work for a "comprehensive disarmament agreement."

In the final communique of their 10-day meeting in London, the nine premiers said the policies of the Commonwealth will be devoted to preserving world peace.

"This meeting," they said, "has been held at a significant stage in the development of international relations. A new element has been introduced by the growing recognition of the devastating power of thermo-nuclear weapons. Other developments of importance, they said, included "changes in the Soviet Union."

The ministers deplored the "vast expenditures" wasted on arms and armaments throughout the world which, they said, "have delayed the full development of the world's natural resources for the common good."

"The governments and the people of the Commonwealth are united in their desire for peace," the communique said.

NO CROSSWORD WINNER
IN 11 WEEKS; PRIZE $350

Pawning is a painful process and the latter is what the results of last week's Crossword Contest proves to contestants. None had a completely correct answer, so this week's prize to subscribers is a fat $350.

One clue that stumped thousands was: "Ignore one and it may prove troublesome later on." Most entries gave the answer as "pain," but the implication is the trouble is not right now. A "paw" in chess might be troublesome later in the game but surely if you have "pain" it is giving you some trouble now.

Complete answer to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on page 23 of today's Times.

'Nice' Times Editor Dangerous
Says Priestley in BBC Debate

LONDON (CP)—Two authors—Britain's J. B. Priestley and Canada's Bruce Hutchison—matched words over the BBC Thursday night about Americans. And if anybody came out on top, it was the Americans.

Hutchison recorded his comment in Vancouver on Priestley's latest book "Journey Down a Rain-bow"—a critical report by the British writer on "immensely rich Texas cities, in terms of the most recent developments in our Western civilization."

Said Hutchison: "As I read it, he sees the American people crushed under a home-made juggernaut, squeezed into a dull conformity and moulded into identical shape by their own machines."

WOMAN BEARS TWINS ALL ALONE AT HOME

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Betty Jordan, 25, gave birth to twin daughters Thursday night while she was alone in her small cottage.

"When you have to do something, you do it," Mrs. Jordan remarked later to a policeman who responded to her telephone call for aid.

A reporter said Mrs. Jordan explained she asked for aid only because one of the babies seemed to have trouble breathing. A physician later said the infant was all right.

Mrs. Jordan said her husband is a serviceman in North Africa.

BOY, 5, SPARKS ROW

Peashooters Shrunk, Or Peas Overgrown?

LONDON (AP)—Peashooters, have touched off a row between British peashooters and pea-shooter makers.

The question: Are British peashooters getting too small to shoot peas, or are peas getting too large to be shot in pea-shooters?

To John Christian, five, this is an important matter.

The boy recently reported to his father, Maj. John W. Rayner of the war office, that only about one dried pea in 20 would pass through his new shooter.

The major issued an indignant statement to the press, saying in part: "In my youth peas fitted peashooters perfectly. Have peas grown larger or peashooters smaller nowadays?"

"Whatever it is, it shows a shocking lack of industrial co-ordination. We are fighting for our export markets and it is a scandal if peashooters are offered for sale which are too small to shoot peas. If such a thing happened in the army it would cause a terrible fuss."

Army Promotion

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt. Col. Alfred J. Tedlie, 40, of Montreal will be promoted to the acting rank of colonel and become chief of staff at prairie command headquarters in Winnipeg Aug. 13, army headquarters said on Thursday. He succeeds Col. W. C. Dick, who recently was named to the national defence college, Kingston, Ont. Lt. Col. Tedlie now is at the college.

Tito Working Toward Third Force Grouping?

By HERB ALTSCHULL
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today Yugoslavia's President Tito soon will launch an ambitious campaign to set up a potent third force between the East and West.

These sources said reports from Belgrade indicate Tito already has begun the preliminary for such a grouping. He has scheduled conferences this month with Asian and Middle East leaders that are expected to centre on cold war problems.

According to Tito's own statements, a third force would work on two basic principles:

1. It would be "neutral" in the sense it would be part of no bloc and would take orders from no one, but it would arm itself to protect its independence.
2. It would practice peaceful "active co-existence" with both ends of the East-West pole and attempt to mediate the differences that started the cold war.

In what is considered a campaign kickoff, Tito has invited the chiefs of state of two prominent neutralist countries—India and Egypt—to a series of conferences at his Adriatic island retreat of Brioni in mid-July.

There has been no announcement of an agenda, but it has been predicted the talks will wind up with a statement spelling out the meaning of "active co-existence" and an invitation to all countries to adopt this philosophy. The informants said

Tito's argument is that all ideologies must be submerged in a greater goal of world peace.

CONFEE WITH GREEKS

Tito likes the phrase "co-existence without neutrality," and Western diplomats say they believe Nasser probably will buy this and that Nehru might accept it if neutrality is defined carefully.

Tito plans to follow the Brioni conference with talks with Greek leaders on the island of Corfu late this month.

These talks are expected to concentrate on the Balkan alliance between Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Seven U.S. Warships Visit Here Aug. 4-7

Led by the 13,700-ton heavy cruiser USS Bremerton, seven ships of the United States Pacific fleet will visit Esquimalt and Victoria Aug. 4 to 7.

In addition to the cruiser there will be four destroyers and two radar picket ships, which are converted destroyers. The Bremerton will fly the flag of Rear Admiral H. L. Collins, commander of the USN's first cruiser division, Capt. F. E. Edward Sellers, commander of the first destroyer division, will be in the USS Russell.

Other ships are: US Ships Richard B. Anderson, Angerholm, Rogers, Lowe and Wilhoite.

About 150 officers and 2,100 men will be embarked.

SHIPBUILDING COMEBACK

Japanese shipyards during 1955 received contracts for construction of 150 ships.

Vancouver Can Use All Columbia Power

VANCOUVER (CP) — All power developed on the Columbia River in Canada must be reserved for B.C. and not sold to the United States, says the report of a special city council committee.

Alderman Halford Wilson, chairman of the committee which will present its report to council Monday, said today Premier Bennett has been notified of the three-month study of power needs on the lower B.C. mainland.

He said he would give it "every consideration," said Ald. Wilson.

The report said even all the power available on the Columbia will not fully meet the requirements of Vancouver and the lower Fraser Valley area over the next 25 years.

The report will urge the provincial government to reserve adequate power potential for this area.

Power consumption in Greater Vancouver and the lower Fraser Valley, the report says, has reached a peak of 491,000 kilowatts. Rising at a rate of 10 to 15 per cent a year, according to B.C. Electric Company estimates, it will hit 6,000,000 kilowatts by 1980.

Any shortage of power would necessitate using steam-generation plants, the report says. This would raise the cost of electricity by some 45 per cent.

U.S. PROBLEM

This today is facing north-west states of the United States, where "much of the present prosperity and heavy industrialization is due to the large amounts of cheap power available."

"Such favorable conditions," the report quotes from a study made by the U.S. federal power commission, "are not expected to recur."

Bullet-Scarred Judge Returns to Bench

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) — A popular British judge who was shot twice by Cypriot extremists returned to the Bench Thursday and acquitted two youths accused of bomb-throwing.

Sixty-five-year-old Judge Bernard Shaw, who described himself as "a tough old bird," was cheered by a group of Cypriots as he returned to his post.

He was ambushed by EOKA underground fighters June 25 and shot two times in the neck.

MARPOLE SPAN OUT AGAIN, GAGLARDI MAD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi today criticized tugboat operators for accidents happening "far too frequently" at Marpole bridge here. "Tugboat operators should know a little more about operating their machinery than this."

"I'm particularly upset about it," said Mr. Gagliardi on learning that the Vancouver link with Sea Island was out again after being hit by scows Thursday night.

Estimates are that the bridge will be out of service for from three days to a week.

That area already is looking toward B.C. hydro sites to supply its power needs—to the very sites, says the report, which will become so vital to the lower mainland.

"The committee contends it would be against the best interests of B.C. to develop the Canadian part of the Columbia for the benefit of the Americans."

Milner Quits Transport Post; Criticizes GPR

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal Transport Controller Roy W. Milner today announced his resignation and at the same time fired a volley of criticism at the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Milner, 64, told the Commons agriculture committee he will no longer be transport controller after the end of the current navigation season. He said later he would resign as of the end of 1955 though he would continue as a member of the board of grain commissioners.

LET DOWN BADLY

He made his announcement while describing the boxcar situation in Canada. He said he had been "let down badly" by the CPR when the prairies were in urgent need of cars for the movement of grain last spring.

Mr. Milner maintained no one could say that Canada was short of boxcars but if more had been provided during the six-week period of March 15-April 30 more grain could have been moved.

"Sick and tired of excuses," Mr. Milner had appealed directly to CPR President N. R. Crump who got "rid of the pencil-pushers and theorists and took over himself. We got more cars."

He said he had worked with the railways for the last five years and, with the exception of the spring episode, he had always received co-operation from them.

Mr. Milner emphasized that the privately-owned CPR has 17,000 fewer boxcars than the CNR. The government-owned CNR had been co-operative. For a time it had flooded the west with cars.

tained and two men were still probing for sparks at press time today. Earlier this morning flames broke out again in sawdust under the floor of the mill but the outbreak was quickly extinguished.

At the height of the blaze it appeared from city fringe areas that the whole of the downtown district was aflame. Sighting cases lined waterfront streets and police were forced to close Point Ellice Bridge to traffic.

CHIEF GETS JOIT

A near accident occurred at one point when a felled power line gave Fire Chief Briers a shock which penetrated his boots. He immediately ordered all firemen to halt operations until the line was snipped off.

The blaze startled dogs held in SPCA kennels which adjoin the mill and barking and howling added to the noises generated by the fire.

The mill owner said he intends to rebuild "... as soon as I get my bearings."

"We are still in business. Our office, planer and lumber yard, located nearer Johnson Street, were untouched."

"We had a small loss of lumber. The fire will mean a lay-off for about 10 men." About 18 workers are employed by the Atom Company total operation.

... PARLEY

"They seek friendly relations with all peoples of the world, and have no aggressive intent or design."

Turning to Russia's part in world affairs, the premiers said they had "reviewed the significant developments in the Soviet Union."

The statesmen, representing Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, have discussed practically every major foreign affairs issue from the Formosa problem to the reunification of Germany.

They concentrated particularly on the recent changes in Russia, and devoted three private plenary sessions to analyzing what effect these were likely to have on future relations between the Communist bloc and the rest of the world.

Conference sources pointed out that the prime ministers' meetings, now practically an annual event, are mainly for a free and frank exchange of views among members of the Commonwealth and are not convened to produce spectacular decisions.

DECISIONS VITAL

But since the nine statesmen represent over 500,000,000 persons, about a quarter of the earth's population, their conclusions have a vital bearing on world opinion.

BRITAIN WILL GIVE UP CEYLON SEA, AIR BASES

LONDON (AP)—Britain tonight announced she has agreed to the request of the Ceylon government to give up her naval base at Trincomalee and her air base at Katunayake.

The Ceylonese have agreed, however, to continue to provide "certain facilities" for British forces in the vital Far East area.

In return, Britain will help Ceylon develop and expand her armed forces.

Saanich Sewer Work May Start in Month

Saanich sewer program halted since last October, due to a $500,000 deficit, may be resumed within a month, Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of the sewage and drainage committee, said today.

The committee met Thursday and took the first step towards reorganizing the engineer's department that a start can be made to complete the sewage project.

It approved the hiring of a cost accountant to keep costs of figures of the works of the engineering department. The lack of a cost accounting system was one of the main reasons why Saanich did not detect last year that it was over-spending its sewage funds.

In addition, the committee authorized Reeve Arthur Ash to engage a consultant to review the engineer department's bid of $830,000 to complete the project. This was requested by the reeve.

The committee also recommended a start on the $39,000 drainage program. Coun. Passmore said work on the sewage program will depend on how quickly a consulting engineer and a cost accountant can be engaged by the municipality.

"We should be able to start work in a month," he said. "That is the best we can do."

The drainage program approved by the committee includes drainage projects on Reynolds Road to Quadra; Marigold Avenue, between Jasmine and Tulip; North Dairy Road to Lansdowne Road; Simms Avenue to Regina Street; Colquitz Avenue and Union Road and Cloverdale Avenue.

On the program for close to 100 teachers were student recitals by pianist Valery Lloyd and soprano Varick Hewitt, and an organ recital by Leonard Wilson of St. James' Anglican Church, Vancouver.

Convention chairman Alf Carlson gave an illustrated lecture on the accordion, assisted by soloist Leo Aquino.

Anthony Emery, Greater Victoria Art Gallery, spoke at a luncheon meeting in Metropolitan Church hall. His topic was "Painters of B.C."

The convention will close this afternoon with an open choral session led by Leonard Wilson. BCRMTA, Victoria Branch, will host the teachers at a tea and reception.

On the recommendation that fundamental music instruction be given in elementary schools Education Minister Ray Willis today said Tuesday "we must walk before we gallop."

"B.C. is a pioneering spot," he said. "We are trying to build a culture within an industrial expansion never before matched in the history of Canada."

"Sometimes you may become frustrated with the nervous industrial bustle, but remember there has been greater cultural development in schools in the last 10 years than there has been since 1870."

Cultural advance in schools has been hampered by lack of teachers, he said.

To fill the need for 1,700 new teachers this fall, teachers are being brought to this province from all over the world. "I signed up one from South Africa this week."

He said: "Naturally when these teachers arrive, there is a problem in integrating them into the school program. We cannot lose sight of that fact. We must walk before we gallop."

However, B.C. has begun to "gallop" toward culture.

The education minister pointed to a newly authorized department of music at the University of British Columbia as an indication. "This will become a school of music eventually," he said. "It will mark a very forward step in the cultural advance of the province."

Socred Checks On Iron Ore Statement

OTTAWA (BUP)—Mines Minister George Prudham said today no request had been received by the federal government for a ban on exports of iron ore from British Columbia.

Prudham made the statement in the Commons in reply to a question by George Hahn (SC-NW-Quebec).

Hahn asked if Premier W. A. C. Bennett or any of his ministers had asked that the export of iron ore from British Columbia be prevented.

"No," said Prudham, "we have received no such correspondence."

At a news conference here Thursday Premier Bennett said he had urged the federal government to clamp down on exports of iron ore. (See Page 5.)

Stratotanker Burns

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP)—The Air Force announced that a KC-97 Stratotanker from Lake Charles, La., on temporary duty in Labrador, exploded today and burst into flames.

The six crew members were listed as missing. An official said a spokesman from a sister plane said he saw the aircraft burst into flames and crashed 45 miles north of Goose Bay Air Force Base, Labrador.

JAPANESE IMMIGRANTS

From 1952 to 1955 a total of 14,000 Japanese emigrated to Brazil, Paraguay, Argentina, Bolivia and Venezuela.

Recover Crew Bodies

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's official New China News Agency said Thursday eight bodies of a Nationalist Chinese bomber crew shot down June 23 have been recovered and buried at Shanghai, Kiangsi province. The government gave awards and promotions to soldiers who shot down the plane.

Arctic Grants

MONTREAL (CP)—Executive director T. H. Manning of the Arctic Institute of North America Thursday announced the institute has awarded 31 research grants to 19 universities and institutions in Canada and United States. Scientists from the universities are currently conducting research in the Arctic and sub-Arctic.
